State of New York Bank Buys County Bridge Bonds

Bids for $1,980,000 of Ulster County "bridge bonds", originally authorized in the sum of $24 million following disastrous floods in 1953, were sold Thursday by County Treasurer Fred H. DuBois.

A Kingston bank, the State of New York National Bank of Kingston, submitted the second best bid and lost out to Halsey, Stuart Co., Inc., by the close margin of $101 in premium. Both offered the same rate of interest 2.6 per cent.

There were twelve bids received, several locally and one from a Chicago banking institution, indicating the high rating which Ulster county bonds has on the market.

County Treasurer DuBois reported the successful bidder, Halsey, Stuart Co., Inc., submitted a bid of $1,980,000 with a $1,090 premium and 2.6 per cent interest. Their total bid was $1,981,090 which was only $101 better than the bid of the State of New York Bank.

The bonds of $1,000 denomination are payable over a period of 15 years.

Originally the board of supervisors authorized a $24 million issue for bridge replacement after disastrous floods had damaged highways and bridges in the county. Bond anticipation notes were issued and have been paid. Of the original issue of $24 million, only $1,980,000 remains due. Meanwhile the county has saved interest on the unissued bonds. Since bond anticipation notes may not be continued after five years, the board recently authorized sale of the remaining bond issue, and directed that bids be received. They were opened Thursday at the county treasurer's office.

Grand Jury

a new county office building but for the obstruction of Democratic members. McCordie retorted it was the Republican members who were obstructing the move and said when the minority Democratic members were "treated as equals they would go along with the Republicans for a new office building." He reminded the majority members that the minority party members still controlled a two-thirds vote necessary for the bonding for a new building.

The President and the shah Others engaging in the debate included former Chairman Relyea (R), Hurley, who commented that Democratic members had voted for a building which would take care of all of the county needs, including health and welfare, but the Democratic members would not go along.

Chairman Jesse McHugh (R), Shawangunk left the chair and remarked from the floor that the committee of which he is chairman had worked for two or three years for a county building and said he was not opposed to being quartered for the grand jury but thought the board should know the cost of fixing up quarters in the court house basement and therefore the matter should be referred to the building committee for study as to cost.

Supervisor Molyneux commented that there were numerous departments in unsafe places, and he cited the Surrogate's Court.

Tabled by Party Vote

By a vote of 17 to 11, the McCordie resolution was tabled.

Dispute also arose over approval of a resolution by McCordie to endorse the King-Anderson bill before Congress to provide health insurance for those over 65 through Social Security payments. The resolution called for forwarding a resolution to the President, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare and also legislators.

Supervisor Alexander J. Banno, (R), Ulster objected saying he did not feel it the duty of the board to pass frequent resolutions on every single piece of pending legislation, which affected the people, but was of no concern of the board of supervisors whose duty it was to pass local legislation. He said each individual supervisor should make known his personal views on legislation but as a body, the board should not act on controversial legislation.

The McCordie resolution for board approval of the King-Anderson bill was defeated by a 17 to 11 party vote. Republicans voting against and Democrats voting for adoption.

Site Offered Again

A communication from Ferdinand and Marianne Schaller relative to giving a 50-acre tract of land near Saugerties for Community College purposes was referred to the Trustees of the college and the Board's Community College Committee. The letter renewed and extended an offer made last fall. It removed earlier requirements that the land be accepted within a specified time and also certain road and water supply requirements. The offer of the 50-acres is extended to such time as may be required by the trustees to select a site.

A resolution was adopted proclaiming April 19 "Patriot's Day" in Ulster County and recommending that bells be rung throughout the county for four minutes beginning at 1 p. m. The movement has the support of the American Legion, Majority Leader Peter Williams (R), Saugerties stressed.

Rochester Hearing Date

May 1 was set as date for a Town of Rochester public hearing on Local Law 1 which will permit the town to pay certain highway claims dating back to 1953, 1956 and 1957. The meeting will be at town clerk's office at 2 p. m.

An offer to settle a claim for damage to a county owned vehicle damaged at the Wallkill road crossing in November 1961 when struck by a train, was accepted. The settlement is $272.63.

Supervisor George Majestic (D), Gardiner offered a resolution directing the county superintendent to make necessary repairs for "the protection of life, limb and property." to the Albany Post Road from Route 299 intersection in New Paltz to the Town of Shawangunk line. The resolution was in accordance with a request from the Town of Gardiner Civic and Taxpayers Association, which stated no major repair work had been done on the route for 20 years. The association took action on March 26, when it requested Supervisor Majestic to bring the matter to the attention of the board of supervisors. A communication from Mrs. Ruth A. Heider, acting secretary of the Taxpayers Association, was received and read.

County Superintendent of Highways Roland Green noted that the road from New Paltz bridge across the Arbutus flats to a point near the entrance to the Lake Mohonk road was eligible for Federal aid construction for 1963. A resolution is required from the board authorizing this construction if Federal Aid Secondary Funds are to be made available.

Supervisor Peter Savago (R), New Paltz, offered a resolution signifying the intention of the board to acquire rights-of-way for relocation of any portion which may be relocated. It will generally follow the present alignment. The resolution was adopted.

A portion of County Road 111 in Rochester has been bypassed through elimination of the Accord railroad bridge. Supervisor Terwilliger (R), Rochester, moved that the by-passed section of the County Road be transferred to the Town Road system. Adopted.

Relocation of a portion of County Road 84, Town of Lloyd, and elimination of the Black Creek Bridge has caused the bypassing of a portion of County Road 84 near the Thad Matras and Nathan Kaufman lands. Supervisor John J. Gaffney (D), Lloyd, moved that the sections of the road be transferred to the town system for maintenance or disposed of to adjacent property owners. Carried.

Anticipating increased traffic over the Mid-Hudson Bridge when the Poughkeepsie arterial route is completed, Supervisor Joseph Martorana (R), Poughkeepsie, moved that the board move to have the Public Works Department take "immediate steps" to plan to initiate improvement and reconstruction of the route through the four southern Ulster townships of Lloyd, Marlboro, Plattekill and Gardiner since it is a much traveled route and is now in poor repair with hazardous curves. His resolution also asked that local legislators be asked to bend every effort to have this route improved.

Authorization was granted to the County Health Department to destroy certain antiquated and unused records.

New Hoax Call Reported on Bomb At Lourdes High

Police Chief John L. Martin said an unidentified male telephoned Our Lady of Lourdes High School Tuesday and said a bomb would explode in the school at the time slated for a fire drill. Police searched the halls and classrooms as the students quietly evacuated the building. Chief Martin said the call was another hoax.

Last Saturday a male telephoned St. Francis' Hospital and said a bomb would go off there. Search of the building disclosed no bomb. On Tuesday an unidentified male telephoned police and warned there would be a bank or jewelry store robbery. Precautions were taken immediately in both cases and investigation of the robbery and hospital bomb reports proved a hoax.

Schryver Lumber Moving Business To Rosendale

After more than 53 years in business at 363 Foxhall Avenue, the William C. Schryver Lumber Co. Inc., today announced it is closing its plant at that site on Monday, April 16, but will continue operations at the corporation's Rosendale yard.

Donald W. Schryver, 19 Schryver Court, Canfield Park, president of the corporation, said deliveries will continue in Kingston and other communities from the Rosendale yard. He said the corporation had not definitely decided what to do with the Foxhall Avenue plant, and added "We have many things under consideration."

The Foxhall Avenue lumber plant was originally founded in 1908 by Donald Schryver's father, the late William C. Schryver and Harvey Buckley and business was operated under the firm name of Buckley and Schryver.

The Rosendale plant, started 28 years ago, will continue under the corporation's present name.

The corporation has built more than 200 homes in Kingston, Schryver said, and the gymnasium at Bard College, formerly St. Stephen's College at Barrytown, Dutchess County.

The lumber corporation also did extensive work at the Vincent Astor estate, Rhinebeck, laid out 32 homes in Canfield Park and constructed a street in the center of the park which is known as Schryver Court.

Defense Contracts

tion of the national interest and competitive factors, the company feels that it is unlikely to make any upward adjustments."

Administration officials disputed or shrugged off the 55-min. U.S. defense of the price rise made by U.S. Steel's chairman, Roger M. Blough, in a televised news conference Thursday in New York.

Blough said the increases were necessary "to the welfare, the strength and the vitality of the nation." They would, he said, partially correct a profit squeeze that handicaps American steel in meeting stiffening world competition.

Reaction Surprises Blough

Blough said he was surprised at the angry reaction of Kennedy on Wednesday, since no assurances were asked by the White House and none were given that prices would not be raised after week's steel labor settlement.

Kennedy, who gave his blessings to the union contract agreement and called it noninflationary, blasted the price rise as an unjustifiable and irresponsible profit grab at the expense of the national interest.

Ever since, the scurrying of Justice Department agents and lawyers has been conspicuous. Thursday night it began to make a pattern, as Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy gave out a few crumbs of information.

First, he announced he had ordered a grand jury investigation in New York of the price increase set off by U.S. Steel.

Records Subpoenaed

That was all the attorney general told, and he told it because Blough under new questioning had disclosed that price records of U.S. Steel had been subpoenaed Thursday morning. Blough said he was not subpoenaed personally.

Later the Bethlehem, Jones & Laughlin and Armco Steel corporations confirmed they had received subpoenas, and that the president of still another company, not identified, has been subpoenaed to appear a week from today.

Next, newsmen learned that the attorney general had discussed with a group of visiting foreign college professors — the possibility of forcing U.S. Steel to divest some segments of its vast empire of ore fields, blast furnaces, mills and fabricating plants.

Meantime two more steel companies climbed on the higher-price bandwagon. National Steel Corp., fifth largest, posted the $6 increase and was followed by Pittsburgh Steel Co., 11th in rank.

Five companies had followed U.S. Steel's lead a day earlier — Bethlehem, the second biggest; Republic, No. 3; Jones & Laughlin, No. 4; Youngstown Sheet and Tube, No. 7, and Wheeling Steel, No. 11.

Two Groups Announce Plans For School Job Candidates

The Kingston Teachers Federation Local No. 781 of the American Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO announced support for the candidacies of Mrs. Julietta Netter and Robert Browning for the board vacancies. Harry Anders, president of the local teachers organization, made the announcement.

As concerns Browning, Anders commented on his intimate knowledge of the Kingston area and his long reputation of unstinting devotion to civic causes.

Cites Community Service Anders expressed the opinion that while other candidates have a sincere desire to do our school system none can bring to the office of board member the tremendous amount of long service to the community in vital fields as do Mrs. Netter and Browning.

"Education is infinitely more than a mere business," said Anders; "it is the heart of our community and our nation. Certainly people like Mrs. Netter with actual knowledge of education from its working side and Browning with his depth of understanding of local problems must rate as our choice for leadership."

Non-Partisan Activities

Abraham Streifer, chairman of the Nonpartisan Nominating Committee, today announced the appointment of a campaign subcommittee to assist the candidates for the Board of Education who have been endorsed by the committee.

Gifford R. Beal of the town of Ulster claims manager for Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation, and Robert F. (Bob) Browning, radio newscaster, are the candidates sponsored by the Nonpartisan Nominating Committee.

Ol' Man Winter Slides Back in As Shultis Said

Ol' Man Winter slid back on a surprise visit to this and other areas of New York State last night, spilling upwards of two inches of wet snow on many sections.

It was just another prediction of Tom Shultis, the Bearsview weather prophet, who on April 7, predicted a cool spring and summer with more snow in April and frost in May.

Supervisor Reginald Todd, Town of Hardenbergh, was excused from attending last night's meeting of the county Board of Supervisors. It was said he was unable to drive out the driveway at his Arkville home because of snow.

Supervisor Charles Relyea, Town of Hurley, surprised board members, when he pulled up near the county courthouse with about two inches of wet snow blanketing his car.

A trace of snow was reported in Kingston by residents who found it on their cars when they were ready for work.

The mercury dipped to 32 degrees at 2:15 a. m., according to the city engineer's office.

State police at Leeds reported snow in that area. They said the snow melted and left highways wet.

Rain followed the snowfall in most parts.

State troopers in the Albany area reported traffic moved normally on most roads and no complaints were received of hazardous conditions.

The Bearsview weather prophet repeated his advice to area residents: "You better not plant gardens until after June 8."

Saugerties Club Stocks 1,100 Trout

Members of the trout committee of the Saugerties Fish and Game Club reported the stocking of 1100 brook trout, ranging in size from four to seven inches in the Plattekill Creek.

The report was submitted at the regular meeting of the club last month. A major item was the revision of the by-laws, raising dues for new members.

The trout committee is taking a poll to see if any brown trout are being carried over from the previous year. Anyone catching a brown trout in the Plattekill Creek should notify the club, stating size and where caught.

Highlight of the meeting was a film on Gypsy Moth Control and a talk by Charles Beeler of the New York State Conservation Department - Division of Pest Control. He presented a map of the Saugerties area and showed the heavy infestations of gypsy moth, explaining what the department is doing to control spreading.

At the April 30 meeting, Ken Wickes, fisheries biologist, will speak on the conservation department's policies in trout stocking.

The annual banquet will take place May 5.

BABSON on BUSINESS

By Roger W. Babson

BABSON PARK, Mass., April 13—When a young person has a really useful idea and takes it to a large concern to make and promote, he is often discouraged when it is turned down. This is because the head of the company asks only two questions: (1) Is it a new idea? (2) Will it sell? Unless it passes both tests, the big company will not bother with it. However, there is always an opportunity for a young person with selling ability and persistence to start his own business.

The Gerber Products Company

When I was a young man, my wife cooked certain foods which she gave to our baby daughter during the weaning period. Only within the last forty years has anyone manufactured "baby foods" to save the housewife work. A young man named Gerber, when graduating from Babson Institute, told me that his family was interested in this idea. Soon he went to Fremont, Michigan and developed the sales of the business.

The big food companies began to compete with him. He, however, kept ahead of them. Today "Gerber Baby Foods" are known all over the U.S. and many European countries. The big food concerns had had generations to manufacture baby food, but it took Daniel F. Gerber to make a million from this idea.

A Fish Chowder Idea

Being a Gloucester boy, I always like a chowder every Friday made from haddock. Today, this haddock must be caught, iced, and brought into Gloucester. There it is filleted. These fillets contain only 40 per cent of the food value; the head, skin, and bones make up the other 60 per cent. These fillets are frozen or canned to sell for making fish chowder. Someday some young person will capitalize on the idea of grinding up the entire fish and making "condensed" fish, just as Mr. Borden made the first condensed milk. Instead of having only 40 per cent of the nutrient it will have the entire 100 per cent. When I speak to my Gloucester friends about this they reply: "We are too busy with frozen and canned fish; let some young person make this into a million-dollar business."

Every reader of this column should have a little stock in one of the drug companies which are working on two wonder chemicals—D.N.A. and R.N.A. Many chemists believe they will lengthen the normal life span many years and perhaps sometime create life itself. The drug companies are also working on a pill which will improve the intellect, the judgment, or the memory of a person. I am certain that our present methods of education will be revolutionized by these new drugs. Here is another opportunity for a young person to make a million.

Selling Wood for Food

At present, only termites and a few other animals can digest the cellulose of the millions of square miles of trees now in our forests. The Hercules Powder Company is dissolving this cellulose into a liquid that humans can digest. This will be the basis of a great new industry. Wise is the young person who becomes an expert on cellulose.

I once asked Thomas A. Edison what he would like to do if he had all the time he needed. He replied: "Make a cold light. My incandescent light consumes too much electricity as heat. I hate to think of the firefly being able to do something that man cannot do!" He was also much interested in birds. He said: "Birds are the only natural resource (other than gravity) that has not been harnessed. The land, water, sun, forests... all are the foundation of great industries." He believed that someday birds will be trained to forecast the weather and do other wonderful things. No large companies will bother with this, but it offers great opportunities for young people.

Automation and Electronics

I have not discussed these two subjects because they are so publicized in magazines and on the stock exchange. I am interested only in new ideas which will develop into "big money" for those with courage and ability. I like to call them our "sleeping giants."

It would be unfair for me to close without referring (again) to a book entitled "IDEAS" by Clinton Woods of 2803 Goodwood Rd., Baltimore, Md. Cost: $5.75 postpaid. He describes over 200 ideas which some young person has had the initiative to develop into big business.

TV on Threshold Of Annual Season Offering Repeats

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Now comes the period when television stores its winter vocabulary in plastic bags and moth crystals and pulls out its collection of summer words.

As the days grow longer and screens replace storm windows, television gives a three-month vacation to such descriptive words and phrases as dynamic, original script, fresh approach, novel and, of course, live broadcast.

In their place come words which the viewer must view with equal suspicion if not downright cynicism. These include re-runs of selected episodes, and repeated by popular demand.

Television is on the threshold of its annual season of repeats, and one of the most closely held secrets of the big industry is the technique used in selecting, out of 26 or 39 programs in a series, 13 or more for re-running.

Last season, a method in selection was readily discernible in action, adventure, western and private eye series. The industry was beginning to be uncomfortable about mounting complaints of unnecessary and excessive displays of brutality and violence. It appeared the shows were picked on the basis of the number and longevity of the fights and the number of corpses sighted in a half hour or 60 minutes.

This year they are probably going back to picking numbers out of a hat.

The feminine half of the old "I Love Lucy" quartet—Lucille Ball and Vivian Vance—will be reunited in Lucy's new fall series. William Frawley, who played Vivian's husband, is unavailable, being tied up with an important part in Fred MacMurray's "My Three Sons," a comedy hit renewed for a third season on ABC. And, of course, Desi Arnaz would hardly be a casting director's choice for the love interest. The new show has no name yet but it is set in CBS' Monday night schedule.

Recommended weekend viewing:

Tonight—"Young People's Concert," CBS, 7:30-8:30 (Eastern Standard Time)—final concert of the season by Leonard Bernstein and the New York Philharmonic Orchestra.

Sunday—"Give Us Barabbas," NBC, 6-7 p.m.—repeat of the Henry Denker drama based on the Bible story, with James Daly and Kim Hunter; "He Is Risen," NBC, 8:30-9—story of the Crucifixion told in terms of art masterpieces and words of the New Testament; "The Action in New Orleans," NBC, 10-11—original comedy starring Audrey Meadows and Bob Cummings.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, APRIL 13, 1962

REGISTRATION DAYS

Registration for the election of two members of the Kingston Board of Education (Consolidated) will take place at the Kingston Municipal Auditorium tonight until 7 o'clock and again on Saturday from 10 a. m. to 7 p. m.

Any resident of the school district who failed to register for the general election last November, those who have changed their school-district residence and those who have turned 21 years of age must register in order to be eligible to vote in this election.

Qualified voters are automatically registered if they registered for the general election last November.

To be qualified to vote you must be a citizen of the United States, 21 years or over, inhabitant of the state one year preceding the election, resident of the county for the last four months and resident of the school district for the last 30 days.

Those who are eligible to vote have a responsibility of citizenship to participate in this election and to choose the best qualified of the seven candidates who have placed their names in nomination to fill the two vacancies on the education board.

The board of education is charged with the duty of providing public education for the children of the district. The importance of their work needs no stressing. The administration of our schools is an essential governmental function and the expenditures are among the largest that local taxpayers must meet every year.

It might be well for voters to keep in mind that experienced and dedicated school board members are necessary to the proper administration of our schools.

THE WEST'S TRUE STORY

A great many Americans are "migrating" into the hitherto thinly populated states of the mountain West. This is an area where much Western history was made, and a lot of the newcomers are finding they have been greatly fooled about that history. Westerners, they discover, have formed a different picture of the old frontier.

It is true there are few now living who remember the old West from personal experience. But there are quite a few Westerners who, as children, heard stories from men and women who were there, who were real pioneers. Many of these stories do not jibe with the film-and-TV-thriller versions of the careers of such characters as Bat Masterson, Geronimo, Wyatt Earp, Billy the Kid and many others.

This seems to suggest a field for real service to the nation by some of these newcomers to the far West, especially those who retired and need a hobby. Why shouldn't the retirees form research groups, organize their counties and assign teams to dig up the truth about the different areas? A competent researcher then could take such data and build a truer story about the West than was.

Our links with the past are being severed as our older pioneers die. Some day we may regret the meagerness of our folk lore. The state guides compiled a quarter century ago were a valuable contribution. They need to be amplified. There are competent men among our elder citizens who could help immeasurably in a roundup such as the one here proposed.

EXPENSIVE EAGERNESS

Any high school youngster who is tempted to quit school for the quick dollar of an immediate job should first absorb a few facts and figures.

In one industry, at least, technical workers will soon outnumber production workers by the end of the decade. According to the Aerospace Industries Assn., nine out of ten employees in World War II were production workers. Today they number only four of every ten. One of every four employees now possesses a technical skill and the percentage is climbing.

These skills, which will be more and more in demand, are not simple to come by after a high school education has been rejected.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

GOLD

On December 31, 1952, the gold reserve of the United States was $23,200,000,000; the gold reserve of all other countries outside of the Soviet Union was $13,600,000,000. The gold reserve of the United States made the American dollar the most acceptable currency in the world. Most Western currencies were pegged to the dollar and the United States was regarded as the leading nation on Earth.

Since the introduction of the Marshall Plan and a series of give-aways, the United States found itself at the end of 1961 with a gold reserve of only $16,900,000,000 and the gold holdings of the other Western countries were $23,600,000,000. The American dollar is no longer as favored as it was formerly and the nation's economic and political leadership is being violently challenged all over the world.

In addition, Soviet Russia has been pouring gold into the London, Amsterdam and Zurich markets and this gives the impression that Soviet Russia has considerable gold.

Foreign holdings of dollars may be exchanged for gold. This, of course, encourages speculators to hold American dollars abroad, particularly in Switzerland. The banks act as agents but will not disclose who their principals are. There are lawyers in Switzerland who have numerous American clients. The main business of these lawyers is to handle American deposits in that country.

The United States does not own enough gold to take care of its obligations. It owns not quite $17,000,000,000 of gold, but $11,500,000,000 of that amount must be used to support the American dollar without regard to other obligations.

What is sound money?
It is money that is accepted readily in return for goods, services, labor, or earnings. The acceptability can be measured absolutely by the yardstick of value. In a word, if in a store $1 will buy one dozen oranges one day but only half a dozen the next day and there is a plentiful supply of oranges, it can only mean that the dollar is worth half as much.

If for a century a postage stamp in general circulation for first class mail costs two cents, and is then raised to four cents, and again to five cents, for a reduced service, then either the currency is worth less, the management inadequate or the labor costs have risen to meet the reduced value of money.

Many psychological as well as economic and political factors enter into foreign exchange. For instance, the Common Market not only permits but encourages cartels; American companies are forbidden to join cartels within the United States but their subsidiaries in foreign countries may join cartels in those countries. This can justify the depositing of American capital abroad and the export of jobs.

It hardly makes sense giving an early warning, particularly when the country shows every evidence of prosperity. Nevertheless, this is the time to talk up and this is the time for the President and Congress to take urgent and immediate steps to protect the value of the American economy and particularly the American dollar.

In the Depression of 1929, we waited too long. That Depression started in 1921 and became world-wide. The few prophets who gave warning in 1928 and early in 1929, were laughed at. When the stock market finally crumbled in the banks were caught overextended, particularly in mortgages. It was really too late to do much and the Depression, which ended its acute phase in 1932, ran on chronically until 1938 when the economy was rescued by war.

The sociological effects of that Depression are still taking their toll in national consciousness and morality. On the economic side, our government accepted the confusions of Keynesian economics under which we now still live because it is all that those under 50 were taught. The cost to this country is in efficiency, in know-how and in the marketability of American goods. Private enterprise solves this problem by exporting jobs, but the workers cannot export themselves or force the capital to stay at home.

The result is what is called a flight of capital. By that is meant that American dollars are sent abroad, are there probably exchanged for local currencies; are invested in local industries and American unemployment increases.

The Kennedy Administration is apparently conscious of the peril but, thus far, there is no evidence that a curative program has been made ready. Time's a-wasting.

The Doctor's Mailbag

Faulty Diaphragm Timing

Upsets Breathing Cycles

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—Our 15-year-old son keeps complaining that he can't catch his breath. He's been examined and we've been assured there's nothing wrong with his heart or lungs. I've watched him play basketball in the school gym and he seems to be perfectly all right. But when he gets home and just sits around he gasps for breath like a fish out of water. Can't something be done to help him?

A—Ordinarily, this condition is attributed to an adolescent nervousness that's outgrown sooner or later. On a few occasions, I've examined youngsters by fluoroscopy during an attack. What seems to happen is a passing disturbance of the diaphragm much like a fluttering of the eyelid. In general, as you may know, the rate of respiration is governed by a central office in the brain.

The act of breathing in (inspiration) is signaled along nerve cables to the diaphragm which is a sheet of muscle that separates chest and belly cavities. Inspiration is begun when the diaphragm contracts. Normally this contraction is uniform, both leaves of the diaphragm acting in unison. When, for whatever reason, the "timing" is off temporarily, the perfectly healthy person registers this "catch" your son speaks of and that you observe.

Q—Can anything be done to keep nails from splitting? I've taken gelatin, vitamins and calcium injections but they continue to split. I know it's not of medical importance but it's an awful nuisance when you catch threads and other things and get runs in stockings.

A—I don't know whether, at this stage of the game, anything can be done other than to keep your nails pared down to the quick. You see the damage has already been done to your nail bed, probably by an injury or, more likely, by chemical burns from long continued use of some nail polish or cuticle removers. Since the nail bed does not easily regenerate, discontinuance of manicure accessories may not be followed by noticeable improvement. But, as there's nothing else you can do, you might give it a try.

Q—I have high blood pressure and my doctor says I ought to relax and take things easy. Well, the best way for me to relax is to sit and smoke. But you and other doctors say smoking is bad. How come?

A—There's no doubt of the soothing influence of a pause for a smoke in the day's occupations or aggravations. But it's the pause that refreshes, not the smoke except insofar as it is an excuse for taking a break. Like calling time during a football or basketball game. Or stalling to knock the dirt out of spikes and adjust the uniform when the bases are full and the count is 3 and 2. Some of the benefits derived from the pause are opposed by the effects of tobacco that recently has been shown to cause a rise in blood pressure presumably through stimulation of ACTH secretion. So you'll have to add the debits and credits to figure your own balance sheet.

For How Long?

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON

Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A task force of half a dozen or more freshmen Republican congressmen will take to the floor of the House in the near future for a major attack on "The Liberal Paper."

This is a paperback book of 12 chapters edited by Rep. James Roosevelt, D-Calif., and just published by Doubleday. It has been in preparation nearly three years. It was a project sponsored by a dozen young Democratic congressmen of liberal bent.

Five of them were defeated in the 1960 elections, but three of the five have found lame-duck jobs in Washington with the Kennedy administration and the other two are running for reelection this November. Some of the seven survivors have tried to disassociate themselves from the book since its publication. This makes sponsorship somewhat thin but, anyway, the book is out.

If the Republican leadership of Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana had not discovered this work and given it some adverse publicity in their March 21 press conference, it might never have attracted much attention. They hit it again a week later. This double shot has made "The Liberal Papers" a best seller in Washington and the bookstores can't stay stocked. It's hard to find.

THE GENERAL SUSPICION is that it's the Republicans who are buying, however, not the Democrats. What the Republicans are lapping up are juicy quotations which show what dam fools the liberals have made of themselves. The congressmen themselves did not write the 12 papers. They turned that job over to a stable of college professors and other thinkers under the group secretaryship of Marcus G. Raskin.

GOP National Committee has just identified him as a former National Security Council staff adviser now assigned to the Geneva Disarmament Conference. He is credited with this quote: "Another initiative that the U. S. might take immediately would be permanent abandonment of nuclear testing in the earth's atmosphere, regardless of such action by any other power."

Republicans like Senators Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, Barry Goldwater of Arizona and House minority whip Leslie Arends of Illinois have been taking pot shots at this stuff from time to time. But what's supposed to be coming up is saturation bombing. Rep. Robert T. Stafford of Vermont is to be in charge of the time and master of ceremonies.

THE WHOLE PROGRAM hasn't been worked out yet but others who will join him include Reps. John B. Anderson of Illinois, Durdward G. Hall of Missouri, James Harvey of Michigan and Clark MacGregor of Minnesota to expose stuff like this:

Prof. Quincy Wright, University of Virginia, proposes "admission to the UN of Red China, both Germans, both Koreans and both Viet Nams."

Prof. Michael Macbebie and David Reisman of Harvard: "As the cold war continues, it becomes increasingly difficult for decent Americans . . . to be outspokenly anti-Communist."

Vera Micheles Dean, editor, Foreign Policy Bulletin, advocates U. S. foreign aid to Communist countries requesting it.

James Warburg: "From the western point of view, West Berlin is of no particular value" and "withdrawing from Europe and liquidation of our bases is what we want to do eventually."

There is a lot more stuff like that and also some awfully dull writing in the chapters on economic policy and law.

WHAT EFFECT IT will have on voters is questionable. If it is guilty by association it may have some value. But it is not a direct attack on the Kennedy administration and its record.

What it all seems to point up is that both the Democrats and the Republicans are bothered by their lunatic fringes.

The far right reactionaries are the principal source of embarrassment to the Republicans. The far left liberals are thorns in the backsides of the Democrats with their constant jabbing at the President's program for "not going far enough."

The two parties like to beat each other over the head for their weaknesses. In an election year, the best advice which independent voters can offer is to tell both sides to go to it, and don't spare the whip.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The episode of the anti-Right Wing booklet written by a priest employed by the National Catholic Welfare Conference in Washington raises questions about the integrity of the management of the Conference itself. The priest is the Rev. John F. Cronin. Although his booklet is entitled "Communism: Threat to Freedom," the text proved to be a sleeping pill fit to lull honest apprehensions of Communist subtleties within our country. The best analysis I have read was written by Janet S. McLaughlin and published in the Brooklyn Tablet. She took up Father Cronin's discussion in detail and not only defeated him but in my mind created doubt of his scholarship.

Moreover, the Tablet, editorially, voiced a misgiving about Father Cronin. And, in view of this priest's status as an "assistant director" of something which he did not specify in his letter forwarding his booklet to me, the NCWC unavoidably has a duty to police the activities of its headquarters. The NCWC evidently does not want responsibility for this questionable exploit. But how can it shrug off responsibility when it allows this employee to clothe himself in an illusion of greater authority than he actually owns. If indeed, he does not speak for the NCWC? And, in view of the importance of the NCWC to the whole American community and its tax exemption, which imposes certain restraints on its activities the Conference should take the initiative to explain itself to the public and scrutinize its agents.

In his letter to me, Father Cronin gave me to believe that he spoke for the NCWC. I find no direct denial that he did. But there is a tendency to hold the Conference itself above the dust of this unseemly scrap. The Conference is an organization of bishops who obviously cannot devote themselves entirely to its affairs in Washington. I have reason to believe that a majority of the Headquarters people are Democrats. It would surprise me to learn that Father Cronin is a Republican, but if so might that not be infiltration?

The Tablet's editorial noted that a disturbance of publicity occurred last November on the basis of a report based on an old magazine article "by an assistant NCWC of-

President's Steel Actions Called War on Profit System

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—A new era in American history—a declaration of war by the government on the profit system as it functions under private capitalism—has been ushered in by President Kennedy.

The stock market reacted on Thursday with a drop to the lowest point of 1962. Business men everywhere have become concerned. For the President was not content with an open denunciation of the motives and patriotism of the executives of the steel companies—he undertook, in addition, to use the powers of the Department of Justice to intimidate, if not coerce, the steel industry to do his bidding.

Nothing like this has happened before—the launching of a government vendetta against a particular industry because it refuses to follow a course of action dictated not by law, but by economic theorists in Washington.

The President's own statements at his Wednesday press conference were answered to an assembly of reporters in New York City on Thursday by Roger Blough, chairman of the U. S. Steel Corporation. Some of Mr. Kennedy's remarks were characterized as unwarranted by the facts. Thus, for instance, the President had said that the increase in steel prices would cost the government about a billion dollars more in defense expenditures. Mr. Blough estimated it wouldn't add much more than $20 million. This is quite a discrepancy.

Mr. Blough conducted himself with dignity and restraint and explained the cost-price problem of his company in detail. He denied the President's comment that there had been no intimation that whatever given to the public hereofore about a price increase. He cited an interview he had authorized two months ago in which he, in effect, predicted an increase in steel prices. The interview was published in the February 26 issue of "U. S. News & World Report." Here is what Mr. Blough said at that time:

Output Argument
"Our hourly-employment costs over the last three years have gone up fairly close to 12 or 13 per cent. At the most, you would expect the output per man-hour—which is not a very satisfactory measure of this thing called productivity, but which is used by some people—to go up, say, not more than 2 per cent a year. The steel-industry record—since 1940—is something like 1.7 per cent. But, if you say it's 2 per cent per year, that would be about 6 per cent of improvement in the last three years.

"Now, our other costs, such as purchased goods and services, have also gone up—all without a price increase in over three years.
"So, adding the whole thing up, my guess is that over the past three years we've had a cost increase of something in the nature of 6 per cent—that is, the 12 per cent minus the 6 per cent (productivity improvement).

ment). It's very close to that. "And you're asking me how long can that continue to increase and how long can it be borne without some kind of a remedy? I would give you the answer that it's not reasonable to think of it as continuing. In other words, even now there should be a remedy. If any additional cost occurs, the necessity for the remedy becomes even greater."

Mr. Blough's answer was in response to this particular question: "Could you continue to increase your employment costs—whether in the form of fringe benefits or in the form of wage increases—without increasing prices?"

Since Mr. Blough gave the interview, the cost to the steel industry of the fringe benefits granted in the new labor contract has been estimated at approximately $100 million a year.

Mr. Blough, in his February interview, was also asked: "Do you think you will raise prices in 1962?"
"Well, since you mention it," he replied, "that's not a bad idea. I wouldn't like to forecast an increase in prices, but I would say that, otherwise, something very unusual would have to happen."

Not Overnight
Mr. Blough spoke, for instance, of reducing costs through efficiency, but pointed out that this could not be accomplished overnight.

The steel company chairman revealed in his news conference this week that profits in the first quarter of 1962 are low. He explained that many factors entered into the decision last Tuesday to increase prices, but that the most important one was the need to earn profits immediately so as to pay for the heavy expense of modernizing plant and equipment in order to be able to meet foreign competition.

Mr. Blough spoke of the more than 325,000 stockholders of the U. S. Steel Corporation in all walks of life, including pension funds, insurance companies and charitable and educational institutions. His company is truly an example of "people's capitalism" in America.

An interesting thing happened just after Mr. Kennedy on Wednesday denounced the price increase. He had spoken of it as "a wholly unjustifiable and irresponsible defiance of the public interest," and had expressed his displeasure that "a tiny handful of steel executives whose pursuit of private power and profit exceeds their sense of public responsibility can show such utter contempt for the interests of 185,000,000 Americans."

These misleading quotations were promptly seized upon by the representatives of the Soviet press who were present at the President's news conference and instantly cabled at once to Moscow for broadcasting over the air waves of the world as confirmation of the oft-repeated thesis of the Communists that America is ruled by a few capitalists and that state socialism is better than private capitalism. This week is a letter from Archbishop Cousins (Milwaukee) again refuting a false report which developed from something written by Father Cronin. This referred to the Cronin booklet.

The Tablet then remarked that the booklet, in its promotion material, now makes use of a photograph of a New York Times article "which has been exposed as false."

On March 2, Father Cronin "sent out a letter," but not to me, pointing out that a publication by the Department of Social Action, which is his Department, was not "necessarily a reflection of the views of all the Bishops." But his letter to me was sent the day after that disavowal and he referred to "the extensive news coverage that the pamphlet has received this week." I naturally took it that he was pleased with the publicity which the Tablet so strongly deploras. And, I repeat, Father Cronin did nothing to caution me that he was not speaking for the hierarchy. On the contrary, he gave me to assume that he was speaking for them.

College Trustees To Hold Meeting Tonight at Hotel

An organization meeting of the recently appointed trustees of the Ulster County Community College will be held this evening at the Governor Clinton Hotel with Dean Paul B. Orvis of State University present.

Preliminary plans will be discussed. Supervisor Roy Webber (R), Town of Marlborough, chairman of the Ulster County Community College committee of the board, reported briefly Thursday evening on the progress thus far made.

An informal meeting was called by Jesse McLaughlin (R), chairman of the board, several days ago. Webber said the enthusiasm of the trustees was "very impressive" and he stated that given time he felt sure the trustees would give the county a college of which it could be proud.

Harry Rigby Jr., of Kingston, has been named temporary chairman of the board of trustees, and it is expected a permanent chairman may be named tonight.

Webber cautioned the board not to expect a "quick decision" in the matter of selection of a site and other pertinent matters, but said he felt sure the Board of Trustees would act expeditiously consistent with the importance of their task.

President to See Fleet in Action, Boards Sub Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy sees the Atlantic Fleet in action today and Saturday. From sea and shore he watches the Navy and Marine Corps—their ships, planes, missiles and men—in combat exercises.

Kennedy flies to Norfolk, Va., this afternoon for a secret briefing on the fleet's attack and defensive capabilities, then boards ship for an on-the-spot view of fleet operations.

LEB to Join Him
The President was scheduled to take off from Andrews Air Force Base in Maryland and land 40 minutes later at the Oceana Naval Air Station near Norfolk. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson precedes him to Oceana, and a host of government officials, members of Congress and diplomats join them later at Norfolk.

The President will board the submarine Thomas A. Edison at Hampton Roads. He'll spend about an hour on the nuclear-powered craft, but probably won't have time for a cruise.

Tonight he'll be aboard the command ship Northampton.

Due Back Late Saturday
After reviewing a fleet of 48 ships Saturday morning, Kennedy will watch an antissubmarine warfare demonstration and fineries of the Terrier, Bullpup and Sidewinder missiles. The A-3 Vigilante supersonic bomber and F-4 Phantom II intercepter-bomber will display their firepower off the Enterprise and Forrestal.

Kennedy is due back in Washington late Saturday.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—Steels continued to give ground as the stock market resumed its slide to new 1962 lows in moderately active trading this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down .70 to 250.40 with industrials off .80, rails off .60 and utilities off .40.

U.S. Steel, down about 2 points, was the worst of its group as the company faced a grand jury investigation of monopoly charges arising out of the steel price boost.

Most other steels were moderately lower but Inland and Armco moved to the upside following news that Inland would not raise steel prices. Armco's decision on the price question was still awaited.

Polaroid recouped about 3 points and IBM about 2.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 1.01 at 894.66.

Costs Trigger Raise

This was made necessary by rising costs, he said.

Blough expressed surprise at an estimate that the steel hike would add $1 billion to defense expenditures.

Direct sales to the Defense Department, including sales through subcontractors and everybody else, would account for only about $20 million extra, he said.

The increase, he said, adds all-most negligibly to materials costs in every-day products. As typical, he mentioned 65 cents for a small refrigerator, $10.64 for a standard-size car, three cents for an electric toaster, 70 cents for a domestic

Snow Loses Force, 12-inch Fall Tops

Tannersville Gets 6 Inches Of White Stuff

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — April rain showers turned to snow over the northern two-thirds of the state and as Friday the 13th dawned up to six inches of snow lay on the ground in some sections.

The heaviest overnight snowfall was reported in the area extending from Binghamton - Elmira northeastward to Albany and the lower Adirondacks. The Weather Bureau said Tannersville, in the Catskills, and Canada Lake, in the Adirondacks, measured 6 inches. Albany, Binghamton and Boonville had about 4.

In many areas, it melted rapidly. Temperatures in the snow area dropped into the 30s.

Up to four inches of snow or rain was expected to accumulate in the northeastern section of the state as the weather front continued in that direction, the Weather Bureau reported.

The cold, wet weather, is expected to continue into Saturday. Weathermen say Sunday will be warmer.

Liz, Burton Go Separate Paths After Club Date

ROME (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor went home alone from a night club date with Richard Burton early today and an onlooker said the film beauty had tears in her eyes.

An unidentified friend escorted the actress to her car, while Burton remained at their table. Later the actor, who has been Miss Taylor's leading man both on and off the movie set since she parted from singer Eddie Fisher, walked out of the club alone and went to a nearby bar.

One photographer said Burton had a bruise and swelling on his forehead which had not been seen there the night before. The couple arrived separately earlier in the evening at a hotel cocktail lounge and then went on to the night club together. Miss Taylor, 30, brought two of her pet Yorkshire terriers along. The dogs went home with her.

Burton today was reported at work on the set of "Cleopatra," in which he plays Marc Antony to Miss Taylor's Cleopatra.

The studio said Miss Taylor was not at work but might be on the set this afternoon.

A Vatican weekly newspaper meanwhile attacked Miss Taylor for her marital record and warned that she may end up an "erotic wanderer, forever without a safe haven."

A studio spokesman said the actress would not comment on the editorial lashing given her by L'Osservatore Della Domenica — the Sunday Observer. Miss Taylor was reared a Christian Scientist but converted to Judaism after the death of her third husband, producer Mike Todd.

President, Shah Exchange Toasts

WASHINGTON (AP)—President and Mrs. Kennedy dined on a six course dinner — from caviar to spinach — amid the riches of Persia at a state dinner given by the Shah and empress of Iran.

Through the windows they could see a flood-lit Persian garden with the rain splattering in the fountain.

The dinner Thursday night was held in the new Iranian chancery — a bit of Persia smack beside the Georgian architecture of the neighboring embassy.

It has a tiled facade and gilded bronze grillwork. And inside the Kennedys walked across rich Persian rugs and saw an exhibit of art from the provinces of Iran.

The dinner, served at a U-shaped table, began with fresh caviar from Iran and vodka with thin slices of dark bread. There was consommé, pheasant, Persian rice, spinach souffle, duchess potatoes, tiny new carrots and wine.

The President and the Shah toasted each other. Later they talked over coffee while the empress, Mrs. Kennedy and other women chatted together.

A spring storm that blanketed northern sections of the Midwest with up to a foot of wet snow lost much of its force today as it pushed into the great lakes region.

The region was chilled during the night by snow flurries, rain and rain mixed with snow. Rain also doused the Ohio Valley and the Atlantic Coast states from Georgia to Maine. Albany, N.Y., reported 4 inches of snow.

Heavy rains that drenched the Southeast the past two days appeared to be letting up, but not in time to stem flooding in Alabama and Mississippi.

The Tallapoosa River threatened Milledgeville, Ala., near Montgomery where 4 inches of rain fell in a 24-hour period. Flood waters from King Creek closed four factories Thursday in Tupelo, Miss., which was swamped by more than 10 inches in an 18-hour period.

The unexpected heavy snowfall in parts of North Dakota, South Dakota, Iowa and Minnesota Thursday forced the Minnesota Twins to postpone their American League opener scheduled for today. Snow on the playing field was six inches deep.

Heaviest snowfall in the area was 12 inches at Pipestone, Minn. Temperatures dropped sharply during the night in the snow area. Bemidji, Minn., reported 15 degrees as freezing temperatures covered Upper Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, northern Iowa and the eastern two-thirds of the nation with the 50s and 60s reported during the night in the extreme South. Temperatures dropped into the 70s in Florida which is enjoying summertime readings. It was 90 Thursday in Jacksonville, topping by 3 degrees the previous high for the day set in 1943.

Asks Delay Till '63

HARRISBURG (AP) — Atty. Gen. David Stahl has asked Commonwealth Court to delay action on three reappointment suits until the 1963 legislature has had a chance to redistrict.

Any judicial action at this time would "seriously disrupt" the election machinery already in motion for the May 15 primary, Stahl argued in a brief presented to the court Thursday.

"It would be fully in accord with the deliberative approach of the courts to give the General Assembly an opportunity to carry out the requirements of the Pennsylvania Constitution with respect to reappointment," he added.

Teeners Oppose 18 Voting Age, For 21 Drinkers

PARAMUS, N.J. (AP) — Bergen County teen-agers want New York State to raise the minimum drinking age to 21. They are also opposed to reducing the voting age to 18.

The teen-agers views were registered on two voting machines set up during a government-in-action exhibit at the Bergen Mall earlier this week.

About 3,000 high school pupils attended the exhibit. A student board of freeholders passed a resolution asking Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York to use his influence with the New York Legislature to raise the minimum drinking age from 18 to 21 to save teen-age lives.

The pupils voted 792 to 491 in favor of raising the New York State minimum drinking laws and 624 to 580 against reducing voting age.

About a dozen teen-agers were killed in auto accidents on Bergen County roads since September. Authorities said many of them were returning from Rockland County, N.Y., drinking places. The New Jersey minimum drinking age is 21.

Congress Favors $13 Billion for New U.S. Arms

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress has sent to President Kennedy a $13-billion bill authorizing acquisition of new weapons by the military.

The measure cleared Congress Thursday when the House swiftly accepted Senate amendments. It authorizes procurement of missiles, airplanes, ships and other weapons—and includes $320 million more than the administration sought to speed the RS70 reconnaissance strike bomber program. The RS70 stems from the controversial B70 program.

The authorization is subject to later appropriations.

Explosion Takes Lives of 2 Men

MARS, Pa. (AP)—Multiple explosions and a raging fire at a chemical plant killed one man today and led to the death of another.

A third worker was injured in the blast and flames which destroyed the Treedale Laboratories and Pittsburgh Metals Purifying Co. Inc. plant about a mile south of this western Pennsylvania town.

Unofficial estimates placed the loss at about $1 million. Coroner J. Clinton Atwell of Butler County identified one of the dead as William Cooper of Sarver.

Clyde Hilliard, 40, of Sarver died in a hospital at Butler. Joseph Baxter, 23, of Pittsburgh was listed in fair condition.

The plant manufactured a chemical product which removes impurities from steel.

Big Steel Walked Into Fight With Eyes Open

Many Unanswered Questions Remain in View of $6 Hike

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — If you and your neighbor were selling eggs and you raised your prices, you wouldn't stay in business long unless you cut your prices back to his level.

That seems simple enough. It would be in keeping with the ancient spirit—often observed more in talk than in practice—of free, competitive enterprise.

But that isn't the way the steel industry plays it.

Most Follow Lead

This week when the U.S. Steel

Series of Area Burglaries Are Solved by Police

Leeds state police solved a series of burglaries of summer homes in Palenville, Catskill, Purling, Cairo, Acra, Earlton and Greenville with the arrest this week of two Catskill men, one a food market proprietor.

Committed to Greene County Jail to await grand jury action on charges of third degree burglary are:

William Paul Vollbrecht, 48, of West Bridge Street, Catskill, and Robert Allen Watts, 20, of Jefferson Heights, Catskill.

The pair were arrested by Leeds troopers Wednesday and charged with burglarizing several summer homes in the Catskill-Cairo area. Vollbrecht is the proprietor of Vollbrecht's Market in Catskill and also operates a service station on Route 23A in Palenville, troopers reported.

The arrests were the result of over three months investigation. Some of the items taken included TV and radio sets, clothes and household appliances estimated to cost several thousand dollars.

Vollbrecht and Watts were arraigned before Catskill Justice of the Peace George Carl.

Corp. boosted prices its competitors might have cleaned up by not raising prices, too. Instead, most of them followed U.S. Steel like sheep. Within three days eight companies had put in raises.

This was asking for a fight with President Kennedy who, because of the special circumstances surrounding this situation, couldn't take it lying down. And he didn't.

His brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, is going after the steel industry. A federal grand jury will now investigate this round of price increases.

Kennedy said his department is checking into two questions:

1. Did the steel companies get together to raise prices? If they did, he said, it would be a violation of law.

2. Should the U.S. Steel Corp. be broken up because it's too big? Kennedy said it should if it's so big it controls industry prices.

Big Steel walked into this fight with its eyes open. It well knows the Kennedy administration has been taking action against price-fixing and monopoly in many directions.

Only last year one of the biggest scandals in American industrial history rolled to a sordid end. After government prosecution for price-fixing and bid-rigging 29 giant electric equipment companies were fined, seven of their executives were jailed, and 45 others were fined. This was initiated during the Eisenhower administration.

The President, who wanted the industry and the Steelworkers' Union to sign a noninflationary contract, thought that's what had been done. So did the rest of the country because there was no hint or suggestion from the steel industry it had a price increase in mind.

Preparation Likely

But at least U.S. Steel must have been preparing for it. The union agreed to a contract which provided some benefits but no pay raise. Within five days U.S. Steel boosted prices. By Thursday night, so had seven other companies. But not all did.

This explains why the President attacked the steel industry with so much anger Wednesday.

Thursday Roger Blough, chairman of the board of U.S. Steel, was reminded by reporters that two large steel companies have not yet raised prices.

He was asked how long his company could stick to its price increase if these two kept their price where it was. He said: "It would certainly affect us. And I don't know how long we can maintain our position."

Which raises a question the federal grand jury will probably want an answer to:

If all the other steel companies had refused to go along with U.S. Steel in raising prices, how long, in view of what Blough said, would the giant of the industry dared to have kept its new price?

Hults Lists New State Policy on Motorist Rehab

NEW YORK—Motor Vehicle Commissioner William S. Hults today announced a new policy of "driver rehabilitation" for the Department he heads. The policy has been made possible by a "Driver Improvement Clinic" program and by the Department's new electronic bookkeeping system, he explained.

He outlined the policy at the Annual Awards Luncheon of the Greater New York Safety Council Convention in the Hotel Statler here.

Not 'Softening Up'
The Commissioner emphasized that the policy is not a "softening up" against law violators. Rather, he said, it is an attempt to do more than take away a driver's license and assume that by doing so, "through some sort of magic, he would be a better driver when he got his license back."

Under the state's point system, Departmental policy calls for:
—At six points in two years, a driver will receive a warning letter.

—At eight points in the same period, the motorist will be summoned to a Driver Improvement Clinic.

At ten points in two years, a driver will be ordered to a Departmental hearing, at which license revocation or suspension may result.

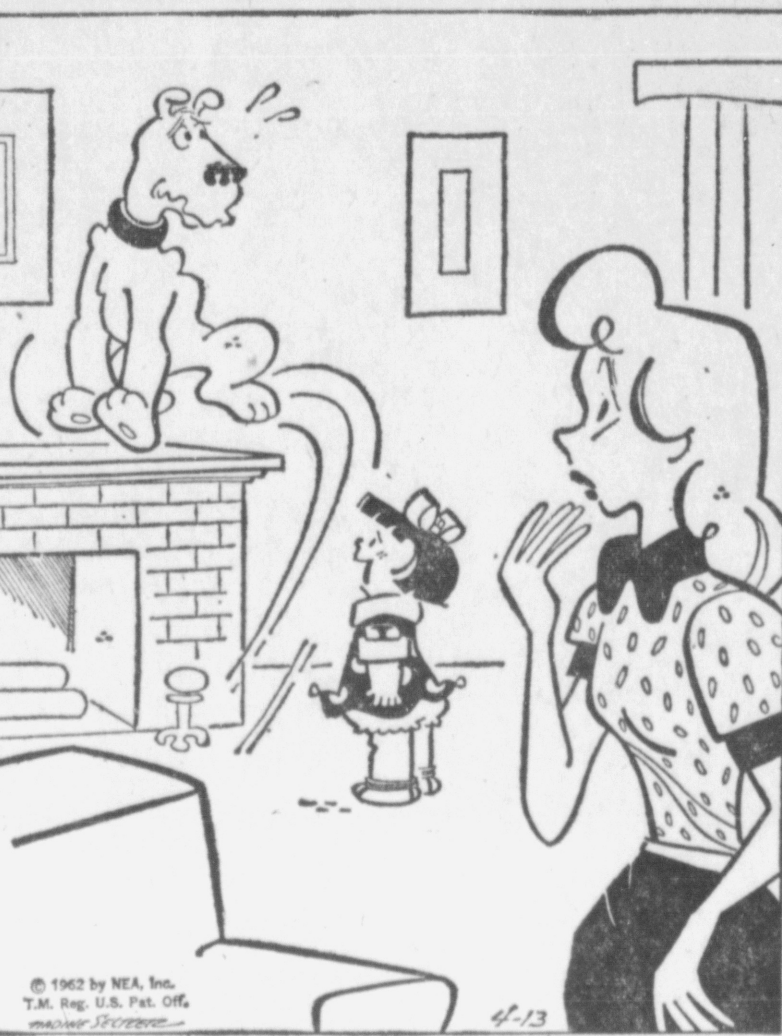

"But even here," the Commissioner said, "this removal of license should be only long enough to discipline the driver—and it should be just that—a discipline and not a penalty."

"Finally, if neither the education nor the discipline improve the driver, then it's time to take him off the highway for a longer period. And in this case, it's because he is an habitual menace to his fellow citizens."

The rehabilitation concept is now possible, the Commissioner explained, because of the Department's Driver Improvement Clinic program.

Fill 30 PC of State Jobs Now

McHugh Sees New Gains For Women in Industry

NEW YORK, N. Y.—The number of women in New York State total work force grew 23 per cent in the last decade, compared with a 6 per cent increase in the number of men workers in the same period, State Commerce Commissioner Keith S. McHugh said today.

He told a symposium on "Job Horizons for Women" at the Hotel Plaza, sponsored by the Woman's Council of the State Commerce Department, that there are now 2 1/4 million women employed in New York State, accounting for nearly 30 per cent of the entire work force.

Urges More Training

Predicting further gains for women in business and industry, McHugh urged increased training by private concerns and educational institutions to meet the needs of ever-widening job opportunities. He said there has been not only an expansion in the variety of roles of women in business but a general upgrading of their employment status.

Nearly one in seven women employed in the state, McHugh said, is engaged in professional, technical and related work and the proportion in this group is growing rapidly. One-third are presently clerical and stenographic workers; one-fifth are operatives; about one out of 14 is a sales worker and one out of eight works in a service industry—the fastest growing area for women workers.

Besides the fact that the number of women workers is expanding more rapidly than men, other interesting phenomena, according to Commissioner McHugh, are that the proportion of women in factory work and on the farm has decreased during the 10 year period while the greatest relative growth during the same period has been in the service industries, sales and clerical work and in professional and technical areas.

"I can only conclude from these data that the variety of roles for women in business is not only expanding rapidly but that there is a general upgrading of their relative roles in our total employment picture. Both phenomena are good and I hope to see them continue," said the commissioner.

Because of mechanization, better education and training of our young people are essential to meet the requirements of the higher skills required to operate complex and costly machines in offices and factories, he said.

"Actually," he said, "the overall character of need for all workers—men and women—is changing and, during recent years, changing rapidly. This is truly the age of mechanization both in America and in industrial countries all over the world. It is my personal belief that we have seen only the beginning. This mechanization here has already begun to affect the 'mix' of jobs and this effect will become more pronounced as it proceeds. Contrary to the fears expressed by some, I think further mechanization will be good for our men and women workers over the long run—first, because without it, we cannot remain competitive in this highly competitive world and retain the growth in job opportunities which we must have for our young people and, second, because its effect is bound to further upgrade the 'mix' of jobs, i. e., call for higher average skills and hence improve the average standard of living through higher wages and salaries.

"It would be my hope, therefore, that in this beginning exploration of the role and future of women in business and industry, this symposium will not only point the way to greater roles and usefulness for women but also the things which need to be done by industry and by our educators if we are fully to meet our objectives," the Commissioner added.

ALBANY — Dr. Eugene H. Horn, 35, associate professor in the department of anatomy at Albany Medical College, has been appointed an assistant dean of the college, Dean Harold C. Wiggers announced today. With the resignation of Dr. Arthur W. Wright, administrative assistant to the Dean, to accept the position of Secretary to the New York State Board of Medical Examiners, Dr. Horn's appointment is part of a realignment of administrative assignments required to meet the responsibilities of the college's capital expansion program and burgeoning research and educational activities. Dr. Horn will share administrative responsibilities with Dr. Frank M. Woolsey, associate dean, and Dr. William P. Nelson III, assistant dean.

Rocky to Speak At Health Parley

ALBANY—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller will be the principal speaker at the first general session of the 5th annual health conference June 12 in Syracuse. The conference will run from June 11-13 in the Syracuse War Memorial.

The other speaker at the first general session will be Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe, state health commissioner. Dr. Henry Fineberg, executive vice-president of the Medical Society of the State of New York, will bring greetings from the Society. Presiding will be Dr. George Baehr, chairman of the New York State Public Health Council.

In addition, Dr. Fineberg will make the presentation of the third annual Empire State Award for Excellence in Medical Reporting. The award, established to encourage the further development of sound health and medical reporting in New York State, is sponsored by the Medical Society of the State of New York and Annual Health Conference Inc., on behalf of the State Health Department.

Approximately 2,000 physicians, nurses and other public health workers from communities throughout New York and adjacent states are expected to attend the three-day conference. Annual Health Conference is one of the largest, as well as one of the oldest, public health meetings held in the United States. It is second in size and importance only to the annual meeting of the American Public Health Association.

The conference serves to provide post-graduate education for professional persons in the health field, and to keep them informed of the new developments. In addition to two general sessions, a wide range of public health subjects will be discussed at the various conference meetings.

RVHS STUDENTS AID LIBRARY—Among members of the Library Service Organization at the Rondout Valley High School, Stone Ridge, who aid in the many duties at the library are (l-r) Judy Lyke, returning books to shelves; Bill Bobbers, checking in records; Marlene Stoddard, president of the group, filing; Shirley Cox, arranging bulletin board and Deborah Davenport, taking book cart to study halls. ### Students Play Important Role At RVHS Library

The Library Service Organization of the Rondout Valley Central High School is observing National Library week along with all libraries, both school and public, throughout the United States.

All twenty-four members of the organization are trained to perform the many activities which are necessary to carry on the work of a high school with 800 students and 50 teachers to be serviced every day.

The new Rondout Valley High School building was opened for school on Sept. 6, 1960. Since that time over 5,000 books have been accessioned and placed on the shelves. About 50 magazines are received periodically and the students have bound many back numbers as well as the current issues. Richard Aaron and Bill Brooks two juniors, and Vernon Grey, a senior have been responsible for much of this project.

Wilson Catalog Cards are used when feasible but Shirley Cox, Karen Saul and Barbel Eggers, all sophomores, have been trained to classify books with the aid of the Preface, Dewey Decimal Classification Index, and List of Sears Heading.

Unlike many high school libraries, the Rondout Valley Library uses an Author number to facilitate proper placing of books on the shelf—Judy Lyke, Diane Murray, freshmen, have the responsibility of placing the number in each book. Catalog Cards are typed by Carol Coddington, a sophomore, Pat Schoonmaker, and Sandra Kelder, Juniors. Jerry Iozza and Jane Oats letter the books before they are shelved by Pat Rody and Bill Bobber, juniors.

Mary Lafalce, Marlene Stoddard and Carol Arnold, juniors, are in charge of the several bulletin boards and display shelves.

The checking of books is carried out by Betty Van Aken, Deborah Davenport, both freshmen, Marilyn Lucas, Diane Misner and Jim Decker, juniors, Hildegarde Bastain and Suzanne Johnson, sophomores.

Holly Lingren and Bonnie Stainkamp hunted materials and filed many helpful articles in the vertical file. Sandra Kelder has catalogued the large collection of records. A complete file of mounted pictures on almost every subject, imaginable, has been assembled and catalogued by Marlene Stoddard and Mary Lafalce. Many of the group can also mend books.

There is also an Inter-School Library Student Association. The High Schools of Ellenville Central, Wallkill Central, Onteora Central, Central Valley, and Rondout Valley belong to this group. The students and their sponsors meet four times a year at one of the schools for a business and social meeting.

Shirley Cox of Rondout Valley is president of the group this year, Alma White, of Walden is vice president and Marlene Stoddard of Rondout Valley is secretary-treasurer.

The organization also has several parties of their own group and has a tea for the teachers during library week. They entertain their parents at a get-together and tell them about their work in the school library.

Karpel Is Named Head of Hudson Library System

The appointment of Leon Karpel as director of Mid-Hudson Libraries was announced today by Hugh Elwyn, president of the five-county library system. Mr. Karpel joined the Mid-Hudson Libraries staff, July, 1961, and has served as acting director since the first of this year.

Under his leadership, representatives of the 45 community libraries participating in system benefits, have adopted plans for centralized purchasing and processing of books which will greatly speed up service to readers and expand local book-buying power. Mass loans of up to 500 books are another service recently offered under Karpel's direction.

Mr. Karpel, now a resident of Poughkeepsie, was for seven years assistant librarian at State University College, New Paltz, and is well acquainted throughout the Mid-Hudson area. A married man with two daughters, he shares the concern of most parents in the development of adequate educational facilities.

"It is my hope that the people of Mid-Hudson Valley will come to believe, as I do, that good public libraries are an integral part of the educative process," Karpel said in an interview.

While at New Paltz, Karpel participated in civic activities, was president of the Board of Directors of the New Paltz Park and Recreation Association and Vice-President of the Ulster County Library Association. He served with the U. S. Army for five years during World War II. His library experience includes eight years with the New York Public Library, seven years at New Paltz, and most recently, two years as Administrative Librarian of the Almar Book Processing Corporation.

Mr. Karpel received his bachelor's degree from New York University and his Master's degree in Library Science from Columbia University, New York City.

Two Give Reasons Why Marriages Are Failing

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — A psychiatrist and a clergyman looked from different viewpoints today at modern marriages and reached a similar conclusion — too many fail.

Dr. Walter R. Stokes, a Washington, D.C., psychiatrist, blamed what he called the distorted, morbid picture of sex presented by the "popular media."

The Rev. William H. Genne of New York City, executive director of the family life department of the National Council of Churches, pointed the finger at the fact that people are not committed to anything greater than themselves. The speakers prepared their comments for delivery at a one-day institute to appraise family life. The session was sponsored by the State College of Home Economics.

Ill-Prepared, He Says

Stokes said many young people are ill-prepared for marriage because adults fail "to show them how erotic sex may be integrated with feelings of tenderness and dignity."

He said youngsters were exposed to pornographic and semi-pornographic material that confronts them with two equally, unreal and socially unserviceable types of sex — "The pure but erotically sterile romantic variety, and the dirty but...exciting kind."

Stokes likened the ideal male of movie and television scripts to a modern Sir Galahad who crusades against evil, especially that related to sex, but who has no identity of his own. Stokes said the ideal wife was portrayed as a woman who had no brains or personality and worshipped husband and children in compulsive, meaningless way that offered no reward except a feeling she was doing right.

The psychiatrist called for an application of "every discipline of science in an effort to organize all realistic knowledge into action programs in the interest of human welfare."

The Rev. Mr. Genne, citing man's need for freedom and sense of security, said, "It is the geographical and moral rootlessness of modern families that is causing more marital disruption and distress than any lack of freedom."

The Rev. Mr. Genne recommended a religious approach, which he said employees freedom and discipline in developing standards that can make life more meaningful.

Another speaker, Mrs. Katherine Oettinger, chief of the Children's Bureau, U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, said increased employment by women outside the home had brought about a "culture quake" in the lives of people all over the world.

She called for the development of day-care programs within community welfare agencies to better meet the task of caring for children while mothers are at work.

Speaking to members of the Mid-Hudson School Board Institute on the topic "The Central Purpose of American Education," Dr. Russell outlined the procedures used by the commission to students will need in the future, Dr. Russell called for classroom teaching which will teach students to think.

"This will mean a re-definition of the work of the teacher to obtain evidence of abstract thinking power," he said. He explained that "we are not sure what type of events create the ability to think," but he predicted a "break-through in this area within a decade." He said it is certain all thinking depends to a high degree in the development of basic skills such as reading.

Dr. Russell also emphasized the need for "working the problems out on the elementary level because every problem that occurs on the secondary level first occurs on the elementary level.

We need to keep the six-year-old from becoming the problem that the 17-year-old is today," he concluded.

Following Dr. Russell's formal address, three members of the group served as interrogators to lead a general discussion on the talk. They were Mrs. Rosemary Christ, a member of the Arlington Board of Education; Dr. George R. Sullivan, district principal of Ontario Central District, and Dr. Roland G. Will, professor of Education at State University College, New Paltz.

This was the last of a series of four School Board Institutes held during the school year at New Paltz. They are sponsored by Mid-Hudson Study Council, an organization of school administrators and teachers representing some 45 school systems in the Mid-Hudson area.

Mrs. Marie Klein, a member of Ontario Board of Education and a member of the Institute Planning Board, presided at the meeting.

The group was welcomed by Edward T. Green, supervising principal of Rondout Valley Central School, who is also president of the MHSSC.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Anger and surprise over the steel price rise points up today the basic dispute: the relation of profits to prices and wages and how the fruits of gains in production should be distributed.

Is profits a dirty word? Some corporate executives say labor and government seem to think so. Are prices administered by individual companies or whole industries without regard to the effect on consumer pocketbooks or on inflationary pressures? Some critics of business, in and out of Congress, charge they are. Others hold that price rises are solely the effect of rising wage scales, with the consumer the forgotten man.

Should wages rise whenever new machines or better production methods turn out more goods for less man labor? Union leaders say labor is entitled to the benefits, especially if jobs have been lost in the process. But corporate leaders hold that the companies should share in the fruits.

And that brings us back to profits. Profits Basic: Management
Management says that profits are basic to our economic way of life. No one would invest in a business project if there wasn't a chance of making a profit. If profits are squeezed to the vanishing point, a company eventually goes out of business. Jobs go down the drain. And if enough companies fold, the consumer goods they have been turning out amongst them disappear.

The steel companies are making the point that under our economic system the companies should set the prices—not the government—except in time of national emergencies, such as war, when the government sets up wage and price controls.

Profits are defended not only because that's the way to get initial investments by stockholders, but also because that's the way to get the funds (either by retained earnings or as a basis for borrowing) to expand the business and update its equipment. Between the two—initial investment and profit-backed expansion—that's the way the private sector of the American economy has grown.

Stagnation Otherwise
And the champions of the profit system point out that such economic growth means jobs. An all but profitless economy, they say, would mean economic stagnation and loss of jobs. An alternative would be government ownership.

Business spokesmen concede that dollar totals of all corporate profits have risen to new heights since World War II. But they insist that part of this represents inflation and that, more important, earnings have not increased at anything near the rate of other segments of the economic growth. They hold that the squeeze on profit margins—how many cents a company makes on each dollar of sales—will, if continued, make further expansion hard and maybe impossible.

That is why they contend that if the economy is to grow and more jobs be created, profits must be sweetened. And to do this, they say, the company must be allowed to set its own price lists. Management insists, rightly or wrongly, that far from being the victim of price administration, the public still has its veto power. That is the right to refuse to buy if prices are out of line.

Congressional critics say that in many instances this veto power is very weak, that sometimes there is conspiracy within an industry to disregard the public interest.

Step Up Security At Dutchess Jail For Renovation

Preparations have been made to take any extra precaution needed to maintain security at the Dutchess County Jail during construction of a new wing and renovations to the present jail, according to Sheriff Lawrence Quinlan.

The Dutchess County Board of Supervisors on Monday approved an additional $270,000 bond issue for the new addition and renovations.

The new three-story wing will be built on the north side of the jail and sheriff's office on North Hamilton Street, Poughkeepsie. The wing will have 40 new cells and Quinlan said three new cells will be constructed in the present jail to provide a total of 131 cells.

Quinlan said he hoped construction work would be started soon and was hopeful the project might be completed in a year to 18 months.

Excommunication Is To Correct Offenders

By JULES LOH
Associated Press Staff Writer

The word excommunication has an ominous ring.

Because the word is back in the news, in connection with the New Orleans dispute over integration of Catholic schools, it's worth examining in some detail.

The Catholic Church, like any other organization, has certain rules for its members. Should a member deliberately and openly violate a rule, he forfeits some of the benefits of membership—provided he is fully aware of both the rule and the penalty.

That, broadly, is what excommunication is.

Used as Last Resort
It is the most severe form of church censure, used only as a last resort after persuasion has failed.

Acts which carry the penalty are defined in Catholic canon law. They range from forcing a person to become a priest or nun to selling indulgences and marrying before a non-Catholic minister. Key provisions, however, are that the offender knows that what he is about to do would result in excommunication but does it deliberately anyway.

In New Orleans, one of the segregationist leaders disclosed that a confidential letter he received from the archbishop said: "We deem it our duty to admonish you that any further attempt by you through word or deed to hinder our orders or provoke our devoted people to disobedience or rebellion against the church will subject you to excommunication."

Aim Is for Correction

The archbishop had refused to reveal the contents of the letter, which serves to point out that, as one authority put it, excommunication is "medieval rather than punitive. Its aim is to protect the church and correct the offender; punishment is only a secondary purpose."

Nor is it intended to sever a person from God, only from the church. A person under the usual form of excommunication doesn't even lose membership in the church. He may attend all its services but may not take an active part in some of them, and may not receive any of the sacraments except penance (confession).

A more severe form of excommunication is rarely invoked and it is only for particularly grave crimes such as laying violent hands on the Pope. It usually requires that the person be named publicly. Thereafter he may not even enter the church.

There have been a number of cases of excommunication in the United States, one of them in Louisiana.

In 1955 Bishop Jules B. Jeanmard of Lafayette, La., excommunicated some parishioners who beat up a catechism teacher during an integration dispute. The bishop said anyone else who dares to interfere with the ministry of the priest also would be excommunicated automatically.

Widow and Dozen Children Remain On Family Farm

SOAP LAKE, Wash. (AP) — These are the 13 reasons you can bet on Beth Scheib to succeed as a farmer: A widow's courage and one dozen little Scheibs aged 2 months to 14 years.

Every Scheib helps—even baby Larry, whose yells for dinner punctuate the need for making the Scheib acres provide a living. Pretty Beth (her age you can't have, but she was married at 17) was widowed last August when a plane crash killed Lawrence Scheib and two neighbors.

The bankers, Farm Home Administration advisers and everyone else told me to sell out and move to town," Beth says.

"What could I do in town with 12 children? For the price of a year's payment on the farm I couldn't even rent a house."

"I'm trying it my own way." Her own way is driving the tractor, plowing the fields, harvesting the alfalfa. When the older children are in school she pays a baby sitter 50 cents an hour to watch the smaller tykes.

"I couldn't hire a man for 50 cents an hour and I couldn't pay more," says realistic Mrs. Scheib. Steve is 11 and the man of the family. "You kids," he says sternly, "keep away from the tractor!"

Linda, 14, and Kathy, 13, are the big girls who help with the housework. Jerry is 10, Clifford 9 and Jim is 8; strong farmhands all. They feed the livestock and help with the irrigation. Doing what they can to help are Peggy, 7; Barbara 5; Don, 4; Wally, 2. The Scheib farm is 10 acres but 65 more are cultivated for Mrs. Leonard McNamara, a neighbor widowed by the same crash that left 12 Scheibs fatherless.

"We raise our own beef for the locker," Mrs. Scheib says. "We plan to build up our herd of cattle. We used to have a truck garden but I think we'll skip the garden patch and stick to real farming. This is our trial year."

It takes about $200 a month in hard cash to feed the tribe of Scheibs.

Three in Auto Die At Railroad Crossing

ALDEN, N.Y. (AP)—An automobile moving across a railroad crossing in this Erie County village Thursday night was hit by an Erie-Lackawanna freight train, killing three persons in the car and injuring another.

Dead were Eugene Olmstead, 37, of Alden; his wife, Roberta, 33, and Harry Kelsey, 39, of Alden. Listed in fair condition at St. Joseph's Intercommunity Hospital in Cheektowaga was Kelsey's wife, Dorothy, 37. Mrs. Olmstead and Mrs. Kelsey were sisters.

An eastbound Erie-Lackawanna freight had just passed the crossing on the double-track line, troopers said, when the car began moving over the westbound track and was hit by the freight. The crossing's signal lights were operating at the time, police said.

Plans Progressing For Benedictine Auxiliary Dance

Plans for the annual spring dance to be given by the Benedictine Hospital Auxiliary on Saturday, April 28, at the Governor Clinton Hotel, are nearing completion. Mrs. George LaTorre, chairman of decorations, and her committee have put the finishing touches on ballroom decorations which will feature an Oriental theme.

Proceeds from the dance will enable the Auxiliary to make its final pledge payment for the nurses' school and residence. Proceeds will also enable the Auxiliary to purchase an "Isolate" for the hospital maternity ward.

Music for dancing will be provided by the LaFalce Brothers, a favorite group in the Mid-Hudson Valley. Active for more than 25 years, the La Falce Brothers have played for radio and television stations coast to coast and have recorded for RCA and Jubilee records.

Winners on the former Arthur Godfrey Talent Show, they have also appeared with Sam Levinson, Herb Shriner, Robert Alda, Ted Steele, Paul Brenner and Aldo Aldi.

The LaFalce Brothers have had articles written about them in Life Magazine and other publications. The orchestra, which features Joe Fratangelo on flute and clarinet and brother Tony on tenor sax, has played all types of engagements including country clubs, college and high school dances, wedding receptions and banquets.

Public is invited to attend this social event. Tickets may be obtained by contacting the ticket chairman, Mrs. Joseph Robertson. Mrs. Donald Abernethy is chairman. Assisting her is Mrs. William Powers Jr.

Page One Guild Award Goes to Weekly; Owned and Operated by Two Local Women

The Kingston Newspaper Guild's 1962 Page One Newspaper Award has been voted to the Ulster County Townsman, a weekly published in Woodstock, Mrs. Dorothy Narel, Guild president, announced today.

The Townsman is edited and published by its co-editors, Mrs. Marian C. Umhey of Mt. Tremper and Mrs. Kiki Godwin of Woodstock. It is the only newspaper in New York State edited and published by women.

In announcing the award, Mrs. Narel said the Newspaper Guild's Page One Awards Committee took cognizance of the Townsman's "courageous spirit and hard hitting coverage of the news in the Woodstock area," in designating the Townsman for the coveted award.

"The majority of newspapers today walk a tight wire of conformity between advertisers and the reading public," Mrs. Narel added. It is refreshing therefore to know that the principles of unbiased reporting are still given aid and comfort by certain newspapers and individuals in the industry. It is for this uncompromising effort on the part of Mrs. Umhey and Mrs. Godwin that this award is given to the Ulster County Townsman.

The editors went to work for the Townsman on the very same day more than eight years ago. At that time the Townsman was owned by the Stamford Publishing Corp.

From the outset the girls had one burning ambition — to own the Townsman outright. They worked hard to build up the paper's circulation and eventually were able to purchase the paper from their employer, Charles Ryder Jr., on May 1, 1959. The paper's slogan is "The Paper With Personality." The Townsman covers the Woodstock township-Olive-Shandaken area and is known for its hard hitting, provocative editorials on local issues.

Mrs. Umhey, Editor

Mrs. Umhey became editor of the Townsman seven years ago and later joined with Mrs. Godwin, originally the advertising manager, in purchasing the paper. She attended Drake School of Journalism and Fordham University. She was editor of her high school paper and was on the staff of the Brooklyn Daily Eagle for four years. Upon marriage to Howard Umhey, she came to Mt. Tremper in 1948. While working in law offices of Francis X. Martocci and Bernard A. Culloton of Kingston, she served as correspondent for the Kingston Daily Freeman and also did free lance writing and feature articles.

One of the best known women in the area, Mrs. Umhey achieved a political first in the Town of Shandaken when she was appointed a councilman on the town board and has been re-elected twice.

She was instrumental in establishing the Shandaken Town Youth Recreation Program; Industrial Development Commission and many other innovations for the townspeople. She is a member of numerous civic, fraternal and business organizations in her area.

Mrs. Umhey is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Callaghan, now of Mt. Tremper. She is a sister of Mrs. F. William Sheehan of Wittenberg and the mother of four children. Her husband, Howard Umhey, is a native of Mount Tremper and is in the contracting business.

Godwin in Theatre

KIKI GODWIN brings a distinguished theatrical and literary background to her post as co-editor of the Townsman. A native of Paris, France, she has spent the greater part of her life in Woodstock. She attended school in Woodstock and New York and is a graduate of Washington Irving Girls High, where she majored in art.

After high school, she attended the Arts Students League in Woodstock and pursued her desired career by attending the Dramatic Work Shop of the New School in New York during the winter. She was very active in two Woodstock Summer Stock companies — the Maverick Theatre and Villetta Players.

The latter was the original group of the now famous New York Circle in the Square. From this group Jose Quintero rose to great fame as a director. She also appeared with such now famous names as Lee Marvin and Margaret Phillips.

Invalid As Child

As a child, Kiki was in the movies and appeared in several "Our Gang" comedies. However, a tubercular ankle left her an invalid through most of her childhood and forced her to abandon a career of movies and dancing. Her interest in dancing stemmed from her famed Godmother, the immortal Isadora Duncan.

Mrs. Godwin's newspaper experience began 10 years ago with the United Press when she was employed by their subsidiary, United Features, in New York. She later left New York and moved to Woodstock. In addition to her newspaper work, Mrs. Godwin is a well known radio personality and conducts the Woodstock News program on station WGHQ. Like Mrs. Umhey, she is a member of numerous organizations and is a past president of the Woodstock Foundation.

Mrs. Godwin resides with her 12-year-old daughter, Patricia (Pookie) Godwin on the Woodstock-Saugerties Road. Her mother is Clemence Randolph, co-author of the famed play "Rain" which she adapted from a short story by Somerset Maugham with John Colter, the late author of "Shanghai Gesture."

Two More Students Win MJM Recognition As 'Artist of Week'

The "Artist of the Week" project at MJM Junior High School has recently displayed the artwork of two more students. They are Terri Ryan, eighth grade, and Vincent Micari, also in the eighth grade.

Terri created an interesting line design in analogous colors. She states, "My drawing is of my first name done in cool colors. All the letters of my first name are used to represent a design. There is blue, which could be ice, water, sky and many other things. Some colors are half cool and half warm. The design is held together by the letters touching all 4 sides of the paper."

Terri is the daughter of Mrs. Morgan Ryan, 214 Manor Avenue, Kingston.

Vincent's painting creates an interesting pattern. About it Vincent says, "my painting is designed from the letters of my first name with a mixture of colors which I mixed with white so I could get light and shady colors. The background is painted with strong, pure colors to make the letters show up better. The white lines are for a design which make it look better, too!" Vincent is the son of Vincent Micari, 176 Wilbur Avenue, this city.

24 College Groups Discuss Sharing Ideas

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP)—Delegates from 24 college center groups, representing some 260 colleges, discussed Thursday the sharing of ideas among American higher educational institutions.

The session marked the opening of a three-day conference on college and university inter-institutional cooperation, sponsored by the College Center of the Finger Lakes, Corning, N.Y.

The Finger Lakes Center, formed nine months ago, includes six colleges in the Finger Lakes region of New York State. The conference is being held at the Princeton Inn.

Dr. Carroll V. Newsom, former president of New York University and a vice president of Prentice-Hall Book Publishing Co., stressed the need of such cooperative movements as college centers as a place for teachers to meet and exchange ideas.

The conference is being financed by a grant from the Ford Foundation Fund for the Advancement of Education. Forty representatives from colleges throughout the country are attending.

At Community Theatre
"The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" starring Glenn Ford, Ingrid Thulin, Charles Boyer, Lee J. Cobb, Paul Henreid, Paul Lukas, Yvette Mimieux and Karl Boehm will be shown at Read's Community Theatre beginning Sunday.

The Julian Blaustein production was three years in preparation, and filming. Spectacular scenes from the screen version of the Vicente Blasco-Ibanez novel required a total of 15,000 extras and bit players. In addition to its location in Paris, a total of 90 sets were designed for other scenes filmed at the MGM Studios.

Ship Workers Return
BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A two-week strike of 86 shipyard employees of the American Shipbuilding Co. has ended.

The workers, members of Lodge 277 of the AFL-CIO Shipbuilders Union, returned to their jobs Thursday. They walked out last March 29 over what they said was the company's failure to settle grievances.

A company official said the workers' return apparently resulted from a meeting they had with their international president in Toledo, Ohio. Union officials could not be reached for comment.

The union agreed to a two-year contract last year which included a no-strike clause.

A similar walkout of 400 employees in Toledo was ended April 6 by a court order.

Freeman Refers Newsmen to His Remarks on Fine

WASHINGTON (AP) — An assessment of $20,899 levied against a Ravena, N.Y., farmer is not a fine or penalty but a payment to a milk marketing pool "so that he is not permitted to take unfair advantage of his fellow farmers," Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman says.

This statement, made at a news conference last month, is expected to form the basis of a letter Freeman has drafted in answer to protests in behalf of the farmer by Reps. Leo W. O'Brien, D-N.Y., and R. Walter Riehlman, R-N.Y.

The Agriculture Department refused Thursday to make the letter public, but Freeman referred newsmen to comments he made at a March 30 news conference. The letter will be made public after the New York congressmen receive copies, the department said.

The farmer, Jesse Stalker, had been ordered to pay the assessment for purchasing cream for resale in alleged violation of a milk marketing agreement.

Freeman told newsmen last month that Stalker failed to abide by a marketing agreement the farmer had signed and that the Assessment "merely tends to equalize" payments by members of the marketing pool.

He said Stalker, as a producer-handler, sold all the milk and cream he produced instead of working through the marketing pool. Stalker, therefore, was subject to conditions "which were considered reasonably fair to the other farmers," Freeman said.

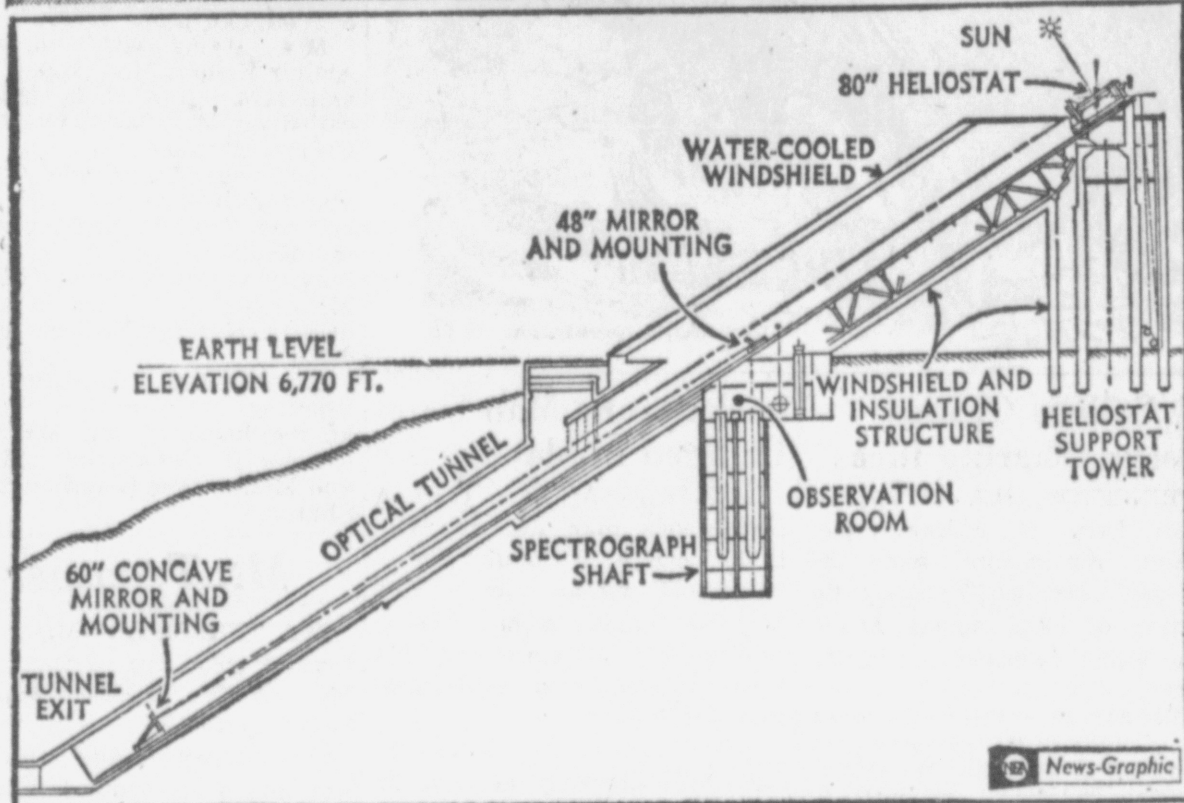

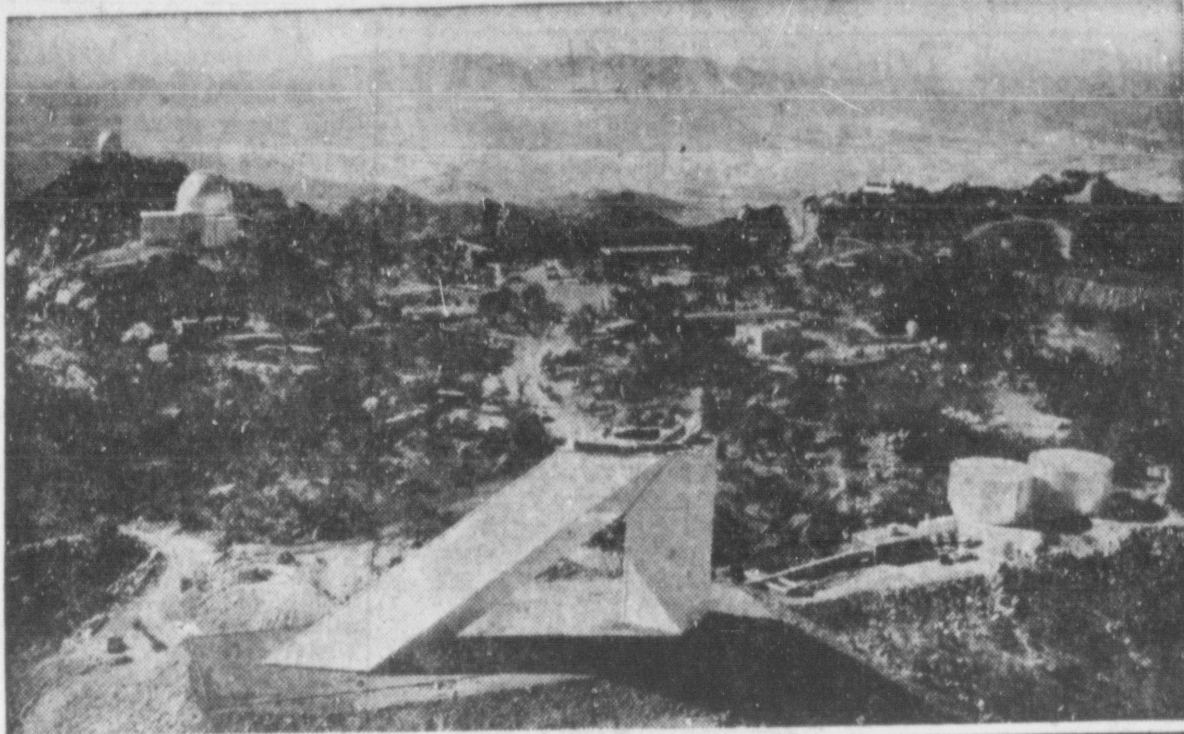

"Well, this man... did not live up to his agreement and... was asked to pay into the pool like any other farmer," Freeman said at the news conference.

Stalker bought cream in 5 and 10-gallon cans during September, October and November, 1958, to supplement his own supply.

The department said Stalker was not allowed under the agreement he signed to buy cream for resale in containers larger than those in which he planned to sell it. This meant, the department said, that Stalker should have bought and sold the cream in the same package.

Goodman to Play

NEW YORK (AP) — Benny Goodman will appear in Moscow for the first jazz concert of his Soviet tour on May 30, his 53rd birthday.

TEMPLE OF THE SUN—The unusual structure in the foreground of photograph above houses the world's largest solar telescope, now nearing completion at Kitt Peak National Observatory, 40 miles southwest of Tucson, Ariz. The structure stands 110 feet high; the diagonal shaft is 480 feet long, 280 feet of it underground, as shown in diagram. Sunlight will be reflected from a heliostat (flat mirror) to parabolic mirrors inside the shaft and into the observation room. The telescope will have a focal length of 300 feet and will form images of the sun nearly a yard in diameter, which may either be photographed or directed into spectroscopes. The big instrument will permit studies of the sun in greater detail than has ever been possible. Domes of the observatory's 84-inch and 36-inch stellar telescopes are visible in the left background of the photograph.

Crack in Lock May Delay Seaway Opening Sunday

MASSENA, N.Y. (AP) — The scheduled opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway Sunday may be delayed by repair work on a crack in the waterway's Eisenhower Lock, the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp. says.

Seaway officials said Thursday night they could not estimate how long repairs would take until the lock had been emptied of water. The 48-hour job of draining the lock was begun Thursday night, after divers found the crack while investigating a loss of water in the lock and a chattering noise in the gate.

Ships are waiting at Montreal for opening of the Seaway, which connects the Great Lakes and the Atlantic Ocean.

Joseph H. McCann, administrator of the Seaway, arrived by plane Thursday night from Detroit to supervise repair operations.

Philharmonic Wind Quartet In Festival Concerts Finale

The concert at the Woodstock Guild auditorium on Sunday, April 15, will present the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Wind Quartet in a program of music of unusual variety and interest. The concert, the fourth and last in the current winter series sponsored by the Woodstock Festival Committee, will begin at 3 o'clock.

The members of the Quintet are drawn from the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Orchestra and Claude Montoux, normally the orchestra's conductor, will be the flutist for the ensemble. He will be joined by Martin Sperber, oboe; Albert Togni, clarinet; Jerome Rabinowitz, bassoon; and Gae Galza, French horn.

Two compositions by Joseph Haydn will be the traditional pieces on the program: a Presto and the trio in G major for flute, oboe and bassoon. For the remainder of the program, the group will play solid and stimulating works of recent years by Darius Milhaud, Walter Piston and Gunther Schuller.

Milhaud will be represented by La Cheminée du Roi Renee, a suite in seven parts. Piston, one of America's most respected academic composers, will contribute his Quintet written in 1956.

Concluding the program will be the Suite (1958) by the American, Gunther Schuller. Schuller's music has in recent years attracted wide interest for its technical brilliance and wonderful sonorous imagination. Although Schuller constructs his music of advanced techniques, the sound textures are so skillfully and persuasively managed that audiences find his compositions highly appealing.

Arlington Thinclads Win Triangular Meet

Arlington's loaded track team was too much for New Paltz and Goshen yesterday. The Poughkeepsie lads won the triangular meet at New Paltz with 72 points. The home side had 294 against 244 for Goshen.

The winners picked up seven first places and won a forfeit in the relay, when Goshen declined to run and New Paltz didn't have enough boys on hand for that event.

The meet was held on a sloppy track and in the rain.

At Belleayre

Supervisors Asked to Back New Snow-Making Machines

Installation of snow making machines at Belleayre Ski Center would salvage many lost weekends at the Catskill ski center, Harry Allen, Pine Hill gift shop and service center proprietor, told the Ulster County Board of Supervisors Thursday night. He sought the backing of the board to petition the Conservation Department to reconsider the matter and asked that local state legislators be petitioned to back the movement.

Allen, speaking before the board of supervisors, said he had appeared before the Delaware County board and other groups seeking support for the move. With the state having an investment of some $2 1/2 millions in the Belleayre Ski Center, Allen said an additional investment of from $100,000 to $125,000 in several snow making machines could have salvaged "four or five more weekends" this winter. He cited several eastern slopes where machine had been installed and brought continuous ski conditions throughout the winter.

Allen said the village of Pine Hill has offered to supply free water for the purpose. In asking the board to "go on record" as approving the project, Allen said fuller use and a longer season for skiers would be a great economic boost for the area. He cited the installation of equipment at Whiteface and said the Conservation Department had promised to make a study of the proposal "after the snow was gone this season." However he said the commission had already reported it not possible to install the equipment at Belleayre. He asked that the board take action to convince the commission it should make snow making equipment a part of the Catskill mountain project. His suggestion was referred to committee.

Finsterwald Shoots a 65 In Greensboro

By KEN ALYTA

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — That fat 77 Dow Finsterwald shot in finishing third in the Masters tournament playoff with Arnold Palmer and Gary Player last Monday apparently had no lasting ill effects.

Finsterwald, 32, playing from Tequesta, Fla., carried a two-stroke lead into today's second round of the $35,000 Greater Greensboro open golf tournament after a super 65 opening round Thursday.

"Finster," as his fellow pros on tour call him, shaved six shots off par, playing the 36-hole course in 32-33. His score was one stroke over the tournament record set 21 years ago by Byron Nelson.

Finsterwald's 12-stroke improvement over his last round at the Masters gave him a two-stroke edge over runnerup Julius Boros of Southern Pines, N.C., who carded 33-34-67. Back of them were six 68 shooters, seven at 69 and 13 at 70.

At par 71, with eight others, was Arnold Palmer, the Masters king, who had a so-so putting day and went to the practice green after his round to sharpen his short game.

At 70 was Samuel Jackson Snead, already $23,000 richer for having played in previous Greensboro tournaments, and pursuing his eighth success here.

Twins' Rookie Wins in Relief

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Minnesota Twins have been tabbed as a club with some talented baseball players and a pitching staff made up of Camilo Pascual and a guy named Joe.

Catcher Earl Battey, shortstop Zorro Versalles, first baseman Vic Power, and outfielders Harmon Killebrew and Bob Allison spell out the nucleus of a good baseball club. And anyone who has watched Pascual spin a curve will swear the ball breaks for five minutes.

The Joe is Joe Bonikowski who pitched his first major league victory Thursday against the Kansas City Athletics. For a 21-year-old who has been in organized baseball only three years it was quite a thrill.

After throttling the A's with three hits in a 5-2-3-inning relief stint, the young right-hander told newsmen:

"When Manager (Sam) Mele told me to get ready I was the happiest guy in the park. I want to work from the bottom to the top."

Last season Joe had a 3.21 earned run average in with Syracuse. The year before at Wilson in the Carolina League he pitched a no-hitter and faced exactly 27 batters.

Sport Club Protests Tie With Albany S.C.

Members of the Kingston Sports Club soccer team have protested the 1-1 tie with the Albany Sport Club last Sunday on the grounds the visitors used an ineligible performer.

Local officials cite the by-laws, which state a player must be signed with a team before Feb. 15 if he is to play. They state that Frankie Mohos played with the Yonkers Sports Club until Feb. 25, thus making him ineligible for action with the upstate team. The protest will be brought before the league.

Meanwhile, the local squad has a road assignment against the Schenectady Football Club this Sunday. Prior to that game, the team will be at West Point on Saturday for an exhibition match against the Military Academy booters.

If Bob Graves' team gets by Schenectady, the big battle of the season will take place the following week when first place Albany Athletic Club plays at Hasbrouck Park. The top spot will be on the line in that one.

By virtue of its tie last week and with the Sport Club gaining a victory, the locals are now second in the league with Albany holding first by a slim margin. The standings:

Tillson Bird Pigeon Winner

Two races have been held to date this month by the Kingston Ulster Pigeon Club, the first from Deep Water, N. J. Fifteen lofts competed with 240 birds on the wing.

The birds flew under extremely adverse weather conditions. They were liberated at 10:45 a. m. The winning bird owned by Walter Zajkowski of East Park, N. Y., clocked in at 4:51 p. m. for an average speed of 801 yards per minute.

Second pigeon honors went to George D'Angelo of Port Ewen, with another Zajkowski bird taking third. Cecelia Buckman of Kingston was first in the Junior division, with Artie Finch, Port Ewen, second.

In the second race, from Washington, D. C., 16 lofts competed with 220 birds. The birds were liberated at 7:30 a. m. and again only a few birds negotiated the course because of weather.

Ray Urest's bird from Tillson clocked in the winner at 3:50 p. m. Walter Zajkowski was second and Harvey Williams of Accord, third. Charles Finch of Kingston led the Junior division, with Cecelia Buckman of Kingston second.

The next race is scheduled Sunday, April 15, with the birds being liberated at Washington, D. C.

Persons interested in joining this fast growing pastime are urged to contact George Caddy.

Two Former Champions

H. Murphy, Michaels, Rebok In Tournament This Weekend

Two former champions are scheduled to bowl in Kingston this weekend, as the 29th annual New York State Women's Championships reach the halfway mark in the 2508-term, eight weekend tenpin marathon.

But commanding much of the attention will be a former Kingstonian — Hilda Murphy — who now bowls out of Ithaca.

During a brief stay in Kingston, Mrs. Murphy not only rolled more than 30 six-hundred triples, but seriously challenged Rose Schaezel's claim as the city No. 1 female star.

Mrs. Murphy rolls her team event with the Rocker Rug Cleaners Saturday at 9:30 p. m. on lanes 15 and 16 at Sangi's Bowlero. She is paired with Jeanne Grover in singles and doubles, Sunday at 3 p. m. on lanes 23 and 24 at Ferraro's Bowlerama.

Jean (Mickey) Michaels of New York, singles champion in 1946 with 625 and 1950 with 622, respectively, rolls her singles and doubles Saturday at 9:30 p. m. with Ellie Monsees on lanes 3 and 4. Her team event, with Pasquale's 840 Restaurant of New York City on lanes 14 and 16, is set Sunday at 2 p. m.

Ruth Rebok of Rochester, 1956 all-events champion with 1726, rolls doubles with Lucille Wood Saturday at 5 p. m. on lanes 25-26 and her team event Sunday at 11:30 a. m. with Lorenzo's of Rochester on lanes 13-14.

Class A bowlers will have plenty to shoot at in singles and all-events, but could easily topple the Class A team and doubles leaders.

Kingston Cage Tournament Has Semi-Finals Set Tonight

Albany Athletic Club, which has won two runaway victories in easy fashion, makes its third start tonight in the Kingston Basketball tournament, playing the McLean Well Drillers of Germantown in a semi-final tilt.

The clubs will meet at 8:15 after another semi-final game between two local rivals — Ray's Tackle Shop and the Trailways Cafeteria. The first match will begin at 7:15.

The high powered upstarters are loaded with ex-collegiate talent and they figured to handle the Well Drillers, who surprised Pine Plains Bombardiers in the quarter-finals.

Bill Telasky and Rick Jannott are the scoring leaders for Albany, but Don Cohen, who holds all the point records at Albany

State, is also a big threat. The club is handled by Dick Sauers, head coach at Albany State.

McLean's, a regular participant in the tournament, will be led by Jack Curry and Joe McCruden, the ex-Siena stars. Curry was at his best against the Bombardiers, especially in the second half, when he tallied 17 points.

Two Local Rivals
The opener figures to be a good battle. The Tackle Shop has been beating the Trailways cagers consistently during the season, but with Ed Kolokowski and Leo Corkery in the lineup, Bob Fescoe's cagers are much more formidable.

Ray's has the speed in Ronnie Scheffel and Al Byrne and the club has four good rebounders and scorers in Joe Klonowski, Chick Boice, Bob Bondar and Harry Pratt. They have to produce a good effort to win this one.

The Trailways handed the NSO club of Poughkeepsie a loss last Sunday and Kolokowski and Corkery were the big difference. The other starters figure to be Joe Uhl, George Carpozis and Marty Kaye. Uhl was ice cold against the NSO and he very seldom has two bad nights in a row. Carpozis and Kaye were both steady in the quarter-final tilt.

Tonight's winners will play Sunday, 8:15 for the title. The losers will meet at 7:15 the same night for third place.

Dean Stone Stops Cubs For Colts

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dean Stone, 32, a left-hander who hurled a three-hit shutout for his first victory in the majors since 1957, is the newest hero on a rapidly growing list for the Houston Colts' all-conquering cast of castoffs.

Becoming the third former American League southpaw to win for the National League's new entry, Stone blanked Chicago 2-0 Thursday for Houston's second straight shutout and third consecutive victory over the Cubs.

Stone, following the example set by Bobby Shantz and Hal Woodeshick, struck out nine, walked only two, permitted only one batter to reach second base and hurled no-hit ball for the final six innings.

Ties Three Marks

Another auspicious beginning was made by Los Angeles southpaw Pete Richert, who tied three major league strikeout records in the Colts' 11-7 walloping of Cincinnati.

Coming on in relief, Richert struck out Vada Pinson to end a four-run rally in the second inning. He struck out four—one reached base when catcher John Roseboro let a third strike get past him—in the third inning, then fanned the first man he faced in the fourth before pitcher Joey Jay grounded out.

The six strikeouts tied the mark set in 1954 by the Dodgers' Karl Spooner for most consecutive strikeouts by a pitcher making his major league debut and equalled the mark for relief pitchers established by Philadelphia's Jack Mayer in 1958. The four in one inning matched an often accomplished feat.

San Francisco walloped Milwaukee 8-4 in the only other game scheduled.

Stone got the run he needed on Hal Smith's run-producing single in the fourth and received some working room when Bob Anderson wild pitched Bob Aspromonte home in the eighth. Jack Curtis started for the Cubs and took the loss.

Jay Belled

The Dodgers chased Reds' starter Joey Jay, who lost his second, in the fifth when a seven-run outburst, Wally Moon's double knocked in the run that snapped a 4-4 tie. Roseboro doubled, took third when pitcher Bob Miller threw to first thinking Roseboro had missed the bag and scored when the return throw to third went wild. Richert got the victory.

Shortstop Jose Pagan drove in four runs for the Giants and also scored a run to make Jack Sanford's mound chores easier. Bob Buhl absorbed the defeat for the Braves.

Ruth Dunn Raps 564

Ruth Dunn ran way ahead of the rest of the Live Wires league with a 564 slam. Her games were 181, 207, 176 for a 147-average bowler.

Helen Baker hit 426. Mary Kay Esselby 434. Anne Bruns 439. Mary Ann Heybruck 408. Joyce Hoban 439. Dee Palumbo 431. Jean Linnartz 436. Jean Vertetis 453. Dee Aiello 442. Eleanor Moschowsky 417. Evelyn Young 402. Carol Strini 425.

Team results:
TP Tavern 0. Cedar Rest 3. Gov. Clinton Market 0. Mehm's Market 3. Promise Land 0. Capri Restaurant 3.

Yesterday's Stars

PITCHING—Dean Stone, Colts, former American Leaguer shut out Chicago Cubs 2-0 on three hits striking out nine, and allowing only one man to reach second base as Houston won third straight.

BATTING—Jose Pagan, Giants, drove in four runs with a single, double and triple, and scored once himself in 8-4 victory over Milwaukee.

Celt Coach Feels Club Has the Edge

BOSTON (AP)—Boston Coach Red Auerbach feels the Celtics have regained the upper hand in the National Basketball Association playoff finals.

"The series has now turned in our favor—let them worry," Auerbach said Thursday after a Celtics comeback had produced a 115-103 victory over Los Angeles and knotted the best-of-seven competition 2-2.

Pierce to Debut For Giants Today

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Left-hander Billy Pierce, who pitched 189 winners in 14 American League seasons, makes his first National League start tonight for the San Francisco Giants.

Billy isn't worried about making the change in leagues as he comments, "The distance to the plate is the same in each."

Three starting San Francisco pitchers got the credit as the Giants won all three games in the opening series with the Milwaukee Braves—the final 8-4 Thursday. Pierce gets acquainted with the Nationals by opposing the defending champion Cincinnati Reds.

"I've faced a few of their batters in Florida during previous springs," he points out. "And I watched the World Series on television."

"Sometimes you can see things better on television than you can from the dugout, but that doesn't hold true all the way."

Early in the spring, Pierce had nothing but trouble as opposing batters whacked him freely. But in his final two outings against the Cleveland Indians he showed enough to win a starting assignment.

"Everything went wrong at first," he admits. "Then things got better and I got stronger."
